MARSHAL FOCH LEADS SOLDIERS IN VICTORY PARADE

By Robert J. Prew.

Paris, July 14.—Twenty thousand allied soldiers swung across Paris eastward today before the eyes of more than a million spectators who saw the great victory parade. Leading them on horseback was Marshal Foch, generalissimo and directing general of the allied forces in the world war.

Beside him rode Marshal Joffre, hero of the battle of the Marne and riding at the head of the various contingent were Generals Pershings, Haig, Petain, Castelain and other great chiefs.

The troops marched in alphabetical order, which brought the Americans led by General Pershing, immediately behind Foch and Joffre. For two hours they swung through a double living wall four miles long with the cheers rising in one unending roar. The greatest moment of the day came when Foch and Joffre drove their horses under the magnificent Arc De Triomphe, followed by the soldiers of liberty.

Since France's defeat in 1870, the Arch of the finest architectural monument to Napoleon's victories had been barred to wheeled traffic by heavy swarming chains. In previous celebrations since the armistice, kings and princes had all passed around the arch, but today the stain of 1870 was wiped out; the chains were flung down and the victorious allied troops marched triumphantly beneath the towering structure while a solid mass of people filling the stands around the Place De L'Etoile broke into storms of cheering.

It is impossible to estimate the number of people along the line of march, but Paris papers today said that several millions saw or tried to see the spectacle. Representatives of nearly every civilized nation cheered themselves hoarse at the passing of the war heroes. A riot of overpowering emotion attended the scene in which full throated French applause was the dominant note.

But among the unprecedentedly great mass of people lining the route and packing the overlooking windows and balconies there were many manifestations of the most bitter grief. From these windows bereaved parents and children wept at the thought that a kindlier fate would have allowed their kin to share in this unparalleled celebration.

But the pathos of the scene was dimmed by the most wonderful demonstration of rejoicing ever seen in the French capital. Today it is as though the peoples of earth were united in welcoming a millennium. What in fact is happening in Paris today is that the greatest men of Europe are joining the humblest in a feverish apotheosis of peace.

Before the rejoicings began today, France paid an official tribute to her more than a million and a half of dead last night in the most mournful ceremony in the history of the republic. A "death vigil" took place beneath the Arc De Triomphe where a huge tomb of war was built on a raised platform, sprinkled with the soil of many battlefields. A mammoth plaster figure of victory stood at each of the four corners. All night a picket of honor stood watch with arms reversed while a multitude of people, thousands weeping, filed beneath the arch before the sepulcher in silent homage to the fallen heroes. The candelabra were lighted at nightfall and cast flickering streams of light upon the people streaming solemnly past the tomb into the surrounding gloom of the vast arch.

Early this morning the sepulcher was removed to a corner of the Place De L'Etoile to allow the troops to march beneath the arch. The route of the march from the Porte Maillot to the Place De La Republique was a scene of Babylonian splendor. At Porte Maillot through which the allied armies made their official entry into the city stood a great triumphal arch.

Along the Avenue De La Grande Armee and then along the Champs Elysees to the Place De La Concorde were festoons of gilded bunting which swung from a mast placed at thirty-foot intervals. Adorning the masts were luminous globes, flower baskets, clusters of allied flags and the coat of arms of French cities.

Displayed on pyramidal columns at frequent intervals were trophies of war, the steel helmets, rifles, haversacks and grenades mingling with the garlands of flowers, the whole war like display in each instance being surmounted by a gallic cock, emblem of French military valor.

The Arc De Triomphe stood undrained in all its splendor amidst a riot of flags and surrounded by a mammoth grandstand on the Place De L'Etoile. That section of the route from the Arc De Triomphe, down the Avenue Des Champs Elysees to the Place De La Concorde was officially styled "triumphal way" and here the biggest decorative effect was accomplished. Midway on the spacious Rond Point Des Champs Elysees Bas reliefs were erected on altars dedicated to the martyred cities of Verdun, Soissons, Rheims and Arras. Throughout the day clouds of vapor, pumped up by electricity flowed out from vortices crowning these altars.

Here by special wish of Premier Clemenceau, captured German guns were heaped up pell mell, with the figure of a victorious Gallic cock perched above each heap.

Another plaster triumphal arch stood on the Place De Concorde at the entrance to the Tuilleries gardens. It bore on its entablature the words: "To our glorious armies," while upon the columns were inscribed the names of prominent generals.

The whole length of the Avenue Des Champs Elysees was a row of stands. Other giant stands were erected on the terrace of the Tuilleries gardens and around the Place De La Concorde. Here the official decorative scheme ended, but the remainder of the route up the Rue Royale and along the Grand Boulevard to the Place De La Concorde, through private initiation provided a record display of flags, banners, oriflammes and escutcheons.

Brilliant though the scene was, there was a general complaint that the decorations, which were carried out mainly by war artists, lacked the magnitude fitting such an historic occasion. The government appropriated something less than a million dollars and this, added to the fact that only a fortnight was given to devise and carry out the scheme, displeased many critics.

Paris was jammed to overflowing by great crowds of visitors that poured in from all over France. Hundreds of thousands spent the night without sleep and by daybreak the streets were teeming with people hurrying to the line of march. Every good place was occupied soon after dawn, when the troops began to redouble in the Bois De Boulogne.

BERLIN STRIKE ENDS.

Berlin, July 14.—As a result of intervention by the federation of labor, a settlement of the transportation strike here has been effected. Traffic over subways and surface lines is expected to be resumed on Monday after a suspension of twelve days.

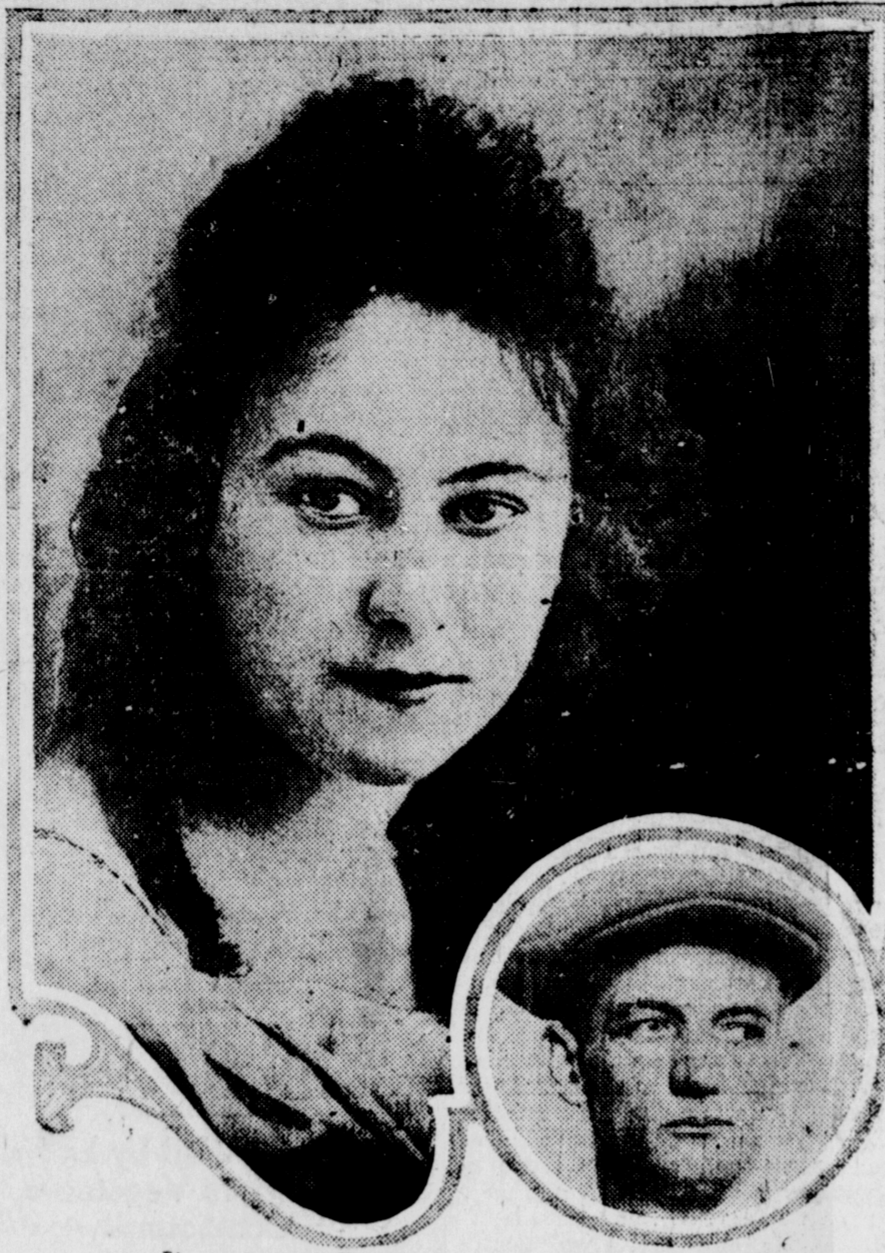

CAMPBELL INTRODUCES BILL WHICH IN FUTURE WOULD KEEP PRESIDENT HOME.

Representative Campbell.

Representative Campbell of Kansas has introduced a bill to prevent a President of the United States from ever again leaving his own country. Representative Campbell according to a report from Washington charged that President Wilson was an easy victim to the flattery of the European diplomats who beguiled him into agreeing to everything they sought at the Peace Conference. Mr. Campbell is chairman of the Rules Committee and one of the recognized leaders in Republican councils.

HARRY S. NEW AND SWEETHEART HE KILLED IN LONELY CALIFORNIA CANYON.

Miss Freida J. Lesser and Harry New.

Miss Freida J. Lesser, the pretty victim of the California tragedy which has brought to light a romance of thirty years ago. Miss Lesser was shot and killed by her sweetheart, Harry S. New, in the lonely Topanga Canyon, near Santa Monica, Cal. New's mother, Mrs. Lulu Berger, of Indiana, claims United States Senator Harry S. New, of Indiana, as her boy's father, and says the noted statesman will surely come to their aid. New, who is thirty-two years old, in confessing his crime, declared he shot his fiancée because she told him she was going to evade motherhood. In a later declaration, when confronted by evidence of physicians, he said Miss Lesser had refused to marry him.

NEW LABOR PARTY FAILS TO ENDORSE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Cleveland, O., July 14.—Cleveland's new labor party refused to endorse the League of Nations at its closing session tabling a resolution which was called for approval of the covenant.

The convention also modified its stand on prohibition, passing a resolution favoring light wines and beers but condemning "hard liquors."

Sympathy for Ireland's fight for independence was expressed in a resolution adopted before adjournment. The convention decided not to put a candidate in the field for the mayoralty campaign this fall.

KILLS MAN IN FULL SIGHT OF HUNDREDS

Cleveland, July 14.—One of the most sensational murders the police have been called upon to solve in years took place this morning in the heart of the commission house district when an unknown man in full sight of hundreds of pedestrians and workers fired five shots into the body of Samuel Amata, an Italian expressman. Flourishing the smoking revolver the murderer held pursuers at bay until he escaped in the congested district south of the scene of the murder. Police believe that blackhanders caused the murder of Amata.

CLEVELAND GREET THE NC-4 HEROES

Cleveland, Ohio, July 14.—A series of luncheons, mass meetings and receptions culminating in a banquet tonight at the Cleveland yacht club greeted the heroes of the NC-4, first airmen to cross the Atlantic. Commander P. L. Bellinger was the first of the noted guests to arrive. Lieut. Commander Read and other members of the crew came later. Lieut. Commander John T. Towers of the NC-3 is also here for the celebration of the Americans' epoch making flight.

BOY RETURNS AFTER BEING AWAY A YEAR

Cleveland, O., July 14.—Through recognition by a neighbor in Buffalo, Cyril F. Callahan, 14, whose disappearance from his home in Youngstown, a year ago started a nation wide quest, is home again. His father met him here as he stopped off the boat in charge of the neighbor. He said he had traveled all over the country with a man alleged to have kidnapped him, working as a section hand part of the time.

EX-KAISER IS NOT THE BROKEN MAN HE HAS BEEN PICTURED

BY AMBROSE LAMBERT.

Amerongen, Holland, July 14.—William Hohenzollern, ex-kaiser is not the broken man he has been pictured, nor is he apparently worrying over the prospect of facing trial for war crimes according to his appearance.

The correspondent had an extremely close view of him and the former empress and a secretary while walking the grounds of the castle of Count Bentinck. The one time emperor was laughing gaily, talking animatedly and swinging his cane just as he did in pre-war days, as I crossed the bridge over the castle moat. William was dressed in brown tweeds and his figure was strikingly erect, though rather stout. There was no sign that he had been bowed down by the weight of his woes.

ST. HELENA WANTS THE EX-KAISER AS PERMANENT GUEST

London, July 14.—St. Helena, to which Napoleon was exiled, wants the ex-Kaiser, according to a correspondent of The Daily Mail, and the inhabitants are speculating on where he will live.

Incidentally, a Copenhagen dispatch says The Extrabladet learns from a diplomatic source that the Netherlands Government as a result of unofficial negotiations, is ready to deliver the former Emperor to the allies and proposes to do it at The Hague.

As to the news from St. Helena, where there is a population of 4,000. The Weekly Observer heads a letter "Send Him Here," and says the island colony is greatly excited over the prospect of getting another imperial hostage.

In selecting a house for him, Longwood, which was Napoleon's home, and King's House, the residence of General Cronje, captured at Paardeburg, are suggested. There is another possibility, Longwood New House. The old Longwood is ramshackle though still imposing.

THREE HORSES DIE WHEN BARN BURNS

St. Mary's July 14.—Fire caused by lightning burned three horses Sunday including one of the best draft teams in St. Mary's township together with a large harvest of new hay and a complete outfit of farm implements belonging to F. Carl Leitz with the barn on the farm of Mrs. Frederica Heusch. There is partial insurance.

BOTH SIDES STAND PAT ON STRIKE

Cleveland, July 14.—With all exchanges picketed, the telephone strike which began Saturday morning entered its third day today with both sides standing firm and the next move up to Postmaster General Burleson.

Both companies were giving service today, the Bell close to normal and the Ohio State showing improvement over Saturday. However the strike leaders claimed they were securing recruits in considerable numbers and were jubilant over the announcement that Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, president of the Ohio Woman Suffrage Association, would appeal to President Wilson in their behalf.

DEPOSED PRESIDENT OF PERU BANISHED

Lima Peru July 14.—Jose Pardo, who was forced from the Presidency July 4, by partisans of Augusto Leguia, has left prison on his way into exile.

Accompanied by his brother Juan, former head of the Chamber of Deputies, the former President went to Chorrillos, where the brothers embarked on the steam tug Hercules to sail North.

It was expected that the tug would overtake the Peruvian line steamer Ucayali off the Peruvian coast, where the Pardo brothers would go aboard. The former executive will arrive at Panama on July 17, and will await his family before proceeding to Paris by way of New York.

The departure of the former President occasioned no excitement. The political situation throughout the country continues to be tranquil.

YANKEES ARE SLIPPING.

New York, July 14.—The Yankees are slipping. They started their second western invasion in the van of American League pennant hunters. Today they have been displaced by the White Sox and are trailing by three games.

Yankee teams of their years, with pennant aspirations, have cracked on the road. New York fans are wondering if Miller Huggins' team is going to follow suit.

BATTLE LINES ARE BEING DRAWN FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS FIGHT

BY J. BART CAMPBELL.

Washington, July 14.—Warfare over the League of Nations and other disputed provisions of the peace treaty was to be renewed in the senate today with President Wilson's supporters and antagonists busily engaged in "digging in" for what was expected to be a protracted and bitterly fought parliamentary and oratorical battle.

Since the president addressed the senate and laid before it the peace treaty on Thursday, the lines between League proponents, the lines between have been more tightly drawn than they were before his return from the peace conference.

Both sides still claimed victory but the Republican leaders of the senate, face to face at last with the concrete proposition of either ratifying or rejecting the treaty as it was signed at Versailles, admitted the opposition to President Wilson was still divided as to the form proposed textual amendments or qualifying reservation should take.

Before the senate met at noon the Republican leaders hoped to have agreed on a definite program which would prove satisfactory to the president's opponents. The finishing touches on such a program were to be applied at a final conference of Republicans early today, the last of a series which have been going on since the senate adjourned on Thursday last after the appearance of the president before it.

Other developments scheduled for today were:

1. First meeting of the senate foreign relations committee to consider the peace treaty.

2. Adoption by the committee of a motion to accept the president's offer to appear before it.

3. Defeat of a motion by Senator Knox, anti-league Republican of Pennsylvania, was to offer in the committee, to provide for the separation of the league of nations covenant from the treaty, a mooted question which other Republican leaders have tentatively agreed would be left to the senate itself.

4. Determination by the Republican leaders whether textual amendments should or should not be attempted because of the possible lack of the majority vote essential to their adoption, some of them favoring a less radical program confined to qualifying reservations to it instead of the treaty itself. With an agreement as to what such reservations should be, they expected, they stated, to muster sufficient votes to prevent the two-thirds necessary for the ratification of the treaty in its present form, or, to secure concessions at least from the administration forces.

PRO-AMERICAN POLICY ADVOCATED BY VON BERNSTORFF

Berlin, July 14.—Count von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador at Washington, writing in the Weekly Democratic, Germany, advocates a pro-American policy and points out that a revision of the treaty of peace can come only through the League of Nations.

"When Germany is received into the League," he says, "she can hope for a world order, checking imperialism by individual powers, and bringing about a system binding peoples together across the frontiers of state."

I hardly need to point out that such a policy would lead us to the side of the United States. There the danger of a League of Nations is a living one. There, alone are funds to be found, and there the principal champion of the league idea will be at the helm for another 20 months.

Count von Bernstorff says that socialism is unpopular in the United States, and therefore if Germans wish to cultivate friendly relations with that country they must convince Americans, not only that militarism is dead, but that new Germany has no intention of fostering a socialist world revolution.

WILL CONTINUE THE SAME OLD GAME

Berlin, July 13, via London July 14.—A threat to instill a spirit of revenge in German children is contained in a proclamation signed by a number of high school teachers which was published in conservative newspapers today. After criticizing the entente the proclamation concludes: "If we are compelled to fulfill these peace terms we turn away with contempt from nations which lacked the moral force to suppress this criminal might to make our children and grand juggling and will work with all our children inherit this sentiment and to keep it permanently alive in the German nation."

Professor Kuno Meyer, well known in the United States as a lecturer was one of the signers.

FIRES CAUSE $400,000 LOSS

Huntington, W. Va., July 14.—Two fires which broke out simultaneously here today, destroyed three buildings in the business section and damaged the Armour and company plant. The loss is estimated at more than $400,000. Lightning was the cause of each blaze.

LLOYD GEORGE, OFF FOR ENGLAND, BIDS FAREWELL TO FRANCE.

Lloyd George bids farewell to France.

Premier David Lloyd George waving a last farewell to France as he sails for England after an almost continuous attendance at the Peace Council meetings at Versailles. An ovation the like of which the said old British capital has seldom witnessed, was given the Premier upon his return to London.

LOCAL ITEMS

Miss Maude Smith returned home from Long Beach, Calif., where she has been visiting for the past four months. She also visited friends in Kansas. She is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seifert of the Wilmington pike.

The huge road oiling machine that has been operated in oiling the James-town pike, blocked the road for several hours Saturday when it backed off into the ditch and couldn't get out. While efforts were made to get the machine out, it stood cross-wise of the road, effectively blocking the pike.

Mrs. Chalmers W. Murphy entertained at bridge Saturday afternoon, at her home on North King street, Miss Helen Westervelt of Memphis, Tenn. A delicious cooling refreshment course followed the game. When the scores were counted it was found that Mrs. Dilvr Belden was entitled to the prize, and a lovely guest prize was presented to Miss Westervelt.

Mrs. Laura Alexander has returned to Xenia after spending a month in Cincinnati as a guest at the home of her brother.

W. E. Baxley, Western Union manager, who is on his vacation, enjoyed a week end trip to Columbus.

Mrs. Rose Shaffer and Miss Louise Shaffer, who were at Lakeside, were called home on account of the death of Mrs. Shaffer's brother, Charles M. Daugherty, which occurred in Washington, D. C. Mr. Daugherty's funeral took place Monday in Wilmington.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul D. Espey are receiving a visit from the latter's mother and sister, Mrs. A. G. McConnell and Mrs. M. V. Cooper of Danville, Ky., and her brother E. F. McConnell of Detroit.

SIR EDWARD CARSON WARNS AMERICANS TO KEEP HANDS OFF

London, July 14.—Significance was attached in political circles today to the fact that the Chronicle, the organ of Premier Lloyd George, the Telegraph and the Morning Post made no editorial comment upon the speech of Sir Edward Carson on Saturday, demanding the repeal of the home rule for Ireland bill and warning Americans not to interfere in Irish affairs.

The Daily Mail, Lord Northcliffe's paper, which has been criticizing the premier, said under the caption "Carson's bolshevism."

"Is there one law for Robert Smillie (head of the coal miners union) and another for Sir Edward Carson? A Bonar Law, government leader in commons, declared that the government will use all the resources of the state against direct action by the miners and the railway workers. The government would make the path easier if it let it be known that it intends to deal firmly with the Bolshevism of ex-Ministers as well as of labor agitators."

The Times, another Northcliffe paper, declared Sir Edward was responsible for the Easter rising at Dublin in 1916 but that he possibly did not force that at the time.

"But he has no such excuse today," continued the Times. "When he condemns the rebellion of 1916 he should remember that he is the last man in Great Britain with less right to do so and when he tells America to mind her own business he courts the retort that the wishes of 15,000,000 Irish-Americans are part of her (Ireland's business). There is no room for dictatorships in a commonwealth of free democracies—neither dictatorship of the proletariat nor the orangemen."

One-Sided Humor.

After the company had gone, Mrs. Mason said to her husband, "What on earth did you mean, John, by telling the Flemings that my humor was positive, but not negative?" "I meant," said Mr. Mason discreetly moving toward the door, "that you could make a joke, but couldn't take one."

CHAUTAUQUA IS MOST AMERICAN OF ALL AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS

Chautauqua, N. Y., July 14.—This "most American of all American institutions," as President Roosevelt called it, is certainly this year living up to its traditions. It is increasingly popular, it would seem; for President Bestor announced yesterday that the attendance had already broken the record for any previous second week of July.

It is keeping up its American traditions, too. Americanism is in the air, and Chautauqua is nothing if not genuinely progressive and up to the forward-looking minute. The national keynote is struck in almost every program. One flourishing organization, the Americanization Conference, devotes its whole energy to the propagation of national spirit; and Prof. Thomas F. Moran of Purdue University, gave yesterday to its members a most stimulating address on "American Ideals Worth Perpetuating." Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the Chautauqua Woman's Club, and ex-president of the National Federation of Woman's Clubs, in a strong and dramatic speech, Wednesday, presented a plea for the erection of community houses which should perpetuate the ideals for which men fought in the war and should serve as meeting places for American and foreign-born around one common hearthstone. Even in musical programs the patriotic note is sounded. An "All American Program" was presented in the amphitheater, on Wednesday, also, by Mr. James Robert Gillette, which revealed to some of us an unsuspected mastery of technique and tone in our young American composers.

But the Chautauqua platforms are clearing-houses for ideas on all sorts of subjects. If every member of the Woman's Club returns to her friends without a marked increase in her personal charm, it will certainly not be the fault of Miss Bragg, of the school of expression, who told them, Tuesday afternoon, in a personally charming way, just "How to be Interesting." Professor Edwin Mims, Vanderbilt University, is giving a remarkably effective series of lectures on "Right Thinking," and Miss Anna Barrows spoke yesterday in the amphitheater on the "Education of the Eater." Miss Ada Van Stone Harris stresses the disastrous combination in the educational world of the low cost of teaching with the high cost of living.

Attorney General Palmer will speak July 26, on some subject connected with his branch of the administration and Mr. Earl Barnes, of Philadelphia, one of the most popular of all the Chautauqua lecturers, will give in the first weeks of August a group of addresses on the New Nations of Europe. Indeed, with apologies to Lewis Carroll, Chautauqua's so full of a number of things.

I am sure we should all be as happy as kings.

The drama this week had as its exponent, Professor S. F. Clark, Chicago University, who presented Israel Zangwill's The Melting Pot from the stage of the amphitheatre. Attention was called to the Arts and Crafts department of the schools by Mr. Royal W. Farnum, New York, who said jocularly, "Here in Chautauqua, of all places in this country, is to be found a collection of all the arts that go to make a nation. Only two things have we not done here, architecture and pottery."

Ohio is well represented here in this Summer School of the Lake. She ranks third in the number of members of the Woman's Club and contributes ten members to the Summer Schools Faculty. There are hundreds of Ohioans registered at the Bureau of Information and among them a half dozen from Xenia: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Little, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Dorothy Armstrong.

Meantime Chautauqua's skies are blue, the chestnut and the lindens are in bloom, and the hounds of summer follow traces of the spring. E. B. C.

OVERSEAS FLIGHT STOPPED BY BLOWOUT

St. Johns, N. F., July 14.—Captain R. P. Raynham, whose attempt to start on a trans-Atlantic airplane flight, was prevented today by the blowout of a tire on his Martinsyde machine, planned to make another effort this afternoon, weather permitting.

The machine has already been repaired and overhauled.

SPRING VALLEY TEAM DEFEATED

The Spring Valley Spartans, the ball team organized recently by Ben Cline, formerly of the Reserves, was defeated by the narrow margin of 2-1 when they played Waynesville a return game Sunday afternoon.

The Spring Valley lads were defeated in one big inning when their short stop made a wild heave and let in two runs. Outside of the one bad inning, Wakely, who hurried for the Green County outfit, breezed along in fine style and had things his own way. Wakely was used in the box instead of Barnard, in order to give him a trial, and the latter was used in the field.

The Spartans are playing good ball and recently sent out a challenge to teams in this section. It is thought that they will play Clarksville next Sunday. The batteries Sunday were Spring Valley—Wakely and Cline; Waynesville—Osborn and Curtis.

that ever came out of a drug store

You know that pepsin is good for indigestion but pepsin could never do what PEPSINCO will. We have dealt in medicines long enough to know the various uses and value. We unhesitatingly say that PEPSINCO is the best remedy for indigestion, gas, flatulency, food distress, sour stomach and pains under the ribs, that ever came out of a drug store. Sufferers of indigestion and dyspepsia will do well to take PEPSINCO.

Ask your druggist—he sells and recommends Pepsinco.

STAR PLAYER OF RESERVES HAS LEG BROKEN IN GAME

The defeat of the Xenia Reserves at the hands of the Springfield All Stars Sunday afternoon by the score of 7-5 was further beclouded by the injury high removed Frank "Deacon" Bath, sterling first sacker for the locals, from the pastime in the third inning.

Taking a throw from Randall when Lemon took a lead off of first, the steady first baseman of the Reserves was knocked down when the runner slid into the bag, suffering a fracture and dislocation of the right ankle. He was hurried in the Lawrence Johns automobile to the office of Dr. A. C. Messenger where the fracture as reduced and the injury set, after which he was removed to his home.

After Bath's removal from the line up the team lost most of its "pep". The splendid first sacker has been a fixture at the initial station ever since the organization of the Reserves. His steadiness and good sportsmanship made him a favorite with both players and fans and his loss will mean a big one to the chances of the local team this season. His injury was entirely accidental and fans held no malice toward Lemon, who unfortunately caused it.

Minus Stiles at the keystone corner, who pleaded for a day off because he was invited away for dinner, and further crippled by the absence of the faithful "Deacon" the Reserves played a poor article of ball at the yard Sunday and succumbed after a hard fight to Rust and his followers. It may be said of Foley's followers that they were fighting all the way, but handicapped as they were, never had the lead.

Rust, who caught for the White Sox, here earlier this season, was in the box for the visitors and while he didn't have any more than his glove, the locals were not able to solve his offerings frequently at any one time. On the other hand the Home City crowd secured 13 hits off of Koontz's delivery, which were distributed well and might not have proven injurious had it not been for several costly errors. The Reserves stole 9 bases off of Wagner.

The lineup: Xenia—Leahey ss. De-Atley 2b, Fuller cf, Weaver 3b, Bath Mills 1b, Weller lf, Earley rf, Randall c. Koontz p; Springfield—Lemon lf, Goddard cf, Aible ss, Grimslev 1b, Rust p, O'Neil 2b, J. Myers rf, Jackson 3b, Wagner c. Umpire—Ratchford. The score:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Reserves	1	0	1	0	2	0	0	2	5	8	5
All Stars	1	0	0	2	2	1	1	0	0	7	13

Famo Dissolves Dandruff Scale and Destroys Bacilli

After the first application of Famo, you should not have a flake of dandruff. If the case is stubborn, a little may remain, but not for long.

The germs will be dead and dying—the new growth begun.

Your hair will be like the hair of healthy children; your scalp like a baby's scalp. All itching will be gone.

Famo Will Win Fight
If it is falling out, your hair is fighting for its life.

Famo will win that fight by killing the bacilli which kill the hair.

Dandruff is a disease which scientists call Seborrhea.

Fred from the bondage of that disease by Famo, the hair leaps into luxuriant new growth.

Healthy, Beautiful Hair
It is, we repeat, like renewing the youth of the scalp—giving back to your hair its early strength and beauty.

Famo will keep the head clean, cool, clean—the hair fresh, full of life, soft, smooth and glossy.

If your hair ever had a natural tendency to wave, Famo will bring back the waviness and intensity it.

DEMENTED MAN REFUSES TO EAT

Believing that he was in danger of being poisoned, Neil Purdum of Yellow Springs, taken into custody at the District Tuberculosis Hospital, Springfield by Sheriff Funde, Sunday, refusing to eat or drink after being placed under arrest. He was adjudged insane by Probate Judge J. C. Marshall Monday morning, on the testimony of Dr. R. R. Richison, medical superintendent of the hospital, and Dr. Adams of Yellow Springs.

Purdum was admitted to the hospital a week ago, and Saturday he grew violently insane, and although he is weak and emaciated by illness, nearly demolished a shack at the hospital.

THEATERS

BIJOU.

A dual role such as has never before been attempted by moving picture artists is that in which Pauline Frederick plays in the Goldwyn release, "One Week of Life," at the Bijou theater Tuesday.

The role calls for the most unusual dual acting ever seen on screen or stage, and it is thought Miss Frederick has the greatest part of her career. An excellent supporting cast adds to the weight of the splendid vehicle chosen for her. In this cast are Thomas Holding, Sydney Ainsworth and Corinne Barker.

Orphium.

June Elvidge has the lead in a very interesting story of perturbed married life, which is told under the title of "The Love Defenders," and will appear at the Orphium Theater.

The production is a World picture and tells the story of the fight of a woman to win the love of her husband and who married her to spite another. Frank Mayo, Isabel O'Madigan, Madge Evans, Jeff Johnson and others are in the cast.

This well known colored minister has derived extraordinary benefits from a single bottle of Nerv-Worth and he told the story most eloquently to Dayton's Nerv-Worth druggist.

Jenkins Drug Store:—For five years I have been in a very nervous condition. I did not have the nerve force to digest my food. I could only eat a few things. Doctors told me not to eat any cold lunch. My stomach and digestion were in very bad condition. Gas formed on my stomach and caused terrible bloating. My blood was in very bad condition and circulation poor. My legs were cold and numb feeling in them and my hands. Could not obtain any relief from my nervous breakdown until I took one bottle of Nerv-Worth and that changed everything. I am nervous no more. Can eat anything any time no bloating and stomach and digestion in fine condition. Good circulation and blood. No numbness and cold feeling in my legs and hands. I am now feeling fine and have regained my health and vigor.

SHALL WE CLINCH THE JOB, OR NOT?

When the Huns, right in the start of their terrible onslaught on the world's peace, designated a solemn treaty with another nation as simply "a scrap of paper," they thereby told the whole story that an agreement which lacks the power to enforce it, is null and void.

This truth is the very kernel of the League of Nations, the Germans themselves having furnished the absolute necessity for it. What would a law against murder, and a verdict against murder, be worth if there was no provision for enforcing the penalty? Absolutely nothing.

Suppose then that after four years of frightful bloodshed, four years of unprecedented beastliness on the part of the Germans the United States and her allies had been able to overcome them, say you that it would have been sufficient to make peace in the ordinary way and have things relapse into the condition they were before; to leave Prussia and Germany the arrogant bullies they had always been in preying upon weaker nations; to leave them a future menace even to our own fair land. Think you that the Allies would have felt this a recompense for all the blood and treasure expended? We do not believe it.

Ah, but you say, look at the way things have been torn up in Europe, was all this necessary—and our own entrance into the world conflict—are we not going right against Washington's advice to avoid "entangling alliances" with foreign nations? Sure we are—and the reason is that as a nation we have put off our swaddling clothes, and even our knee breeches, and have emerged into the full stature of manhood—have taken our place among the nations of the world, not only ready to bear our share of the burdens thereof, but standing forth the sublime peer of them all, to which they now all look as the greatest example of civilization on the face of the earth.

And as to tearing up Europe—didn't it need tearing up? Since the world began the theory has been that "right makes right"—the most infamous doctrine ever invented by the devil. Prince and pauper has ever been its assumption. The very antithesis of our own glorious theory that all men are born equal. The doctrine that some men are "born to rule" has been kicked out doors—a "new day" has come to the world—all are looking up and taking in a life-giving breath of the delicious fresh air of Freedom, Thank God.

We have fought a good fight, and shall we now lay down our arms without completing the job by clinching it with the power to make the world keep the peace? The United States Senate should ratify the treaty without a moment's delay. "To doubt would be disloyalty, to falter would be sin."

WANT US TO EAT MORE BEEF.

During the war we were all "Hooverized" for the benefit of our soldier boys and for our Allies across the ocean. One of the things we were urged to eat less of was beef, in order that they over there could have more.

Now a singular condition happens. We are urged to eat more beef, for the benefit of the cattle raisers. Of course, on account of the end of the war, the export has fallen off wonderfully. May, 1919, for instance, showing exports of only 26 million pounds of beef, against 95 million pounds in May, 1918.

Members of the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange have inaugurated a national campaign to avert losses to graziers and feeders of cattle. They are enlisting the support of the leading livestock organizations of the United States, bankers in the cattle-raising states of the West, national legislators and the United States Department of Agriculture, in an attempt to increase domestic consumption of beef and also enlarge the limited export outlets.

"We want to stem the sensational downward movement of the market for cattle in order to prevent ruin to thousands of producers," declared E. W. Houx, president of the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange. "Nearly every load of feed cattle now coming to Kansas City and to other markets as well, is losing $30 to $50 a head, or as much as $1000 or more for the full car. Unless domestic consumption and export buying is increased there is danger of further declines, which already amount to more than $3 to $5 per hundredweight as compared with the opening of April. Our big receipts of grass cattle are about to start, and drastic measures must be taken quickly to improve the market."

Among the measures which stockmen hope to bring about is a lowering of retail quotations to consumers to a level which will correspond to the range of prices now prevailing on live cattle. It is alleged by stockmen that the retailers have been exacting profits of 70 to 100 per cent on dressed beef, thereby discouraging consumption of beef.

It is stated that the stockmen have gone so far in their effort to boost prices as to advocate government aid, if necessary, in financing European buying of beef in the United States. This is pretty rough on the consumer—collect money of him to boost the price of his foodstuff.

There is a disposition to attribute the reduced consumption of beef to some extent to the habits formed during war time. The meatless days are thought to have shown large numbers of persons that they can get on without meat. Yes, but that was when we thought it a patriotic duty to do so. But to do so for the benefit of the cattle raiser, ah, that is another thing.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS.

SANDRA DINES WITH MR. HALLIDAY

CHAPTER XII.
We went to a very attractive restaurant for dinner. We had not been long seated when Mr. Halliday came in. To my surprise Everett asked him to join us; which he did with profuse thanks for the invitation.

Why did Everett ask him to join us after the way he had spoken of him? It seemed strange to me and I expect I was more than a little absorbed in trying to adjust things in my mind, and so was not a very interesting companion. Because the first thing I knew Everett and his guest were talking of people of whom I never had heard.

"She is lovelier than ever!" Mr. Halliday said.

"Yes—she has improved wonderfully, and yet there seemed little room for improvement," Everett replied slowly. "She is one of the most charming women I know."

"Barton drank himself to death I heard."

"I don't know as to that; but Irma certainly had a lot to stand for from him. I admire the way she kept her own counsel. I never have heard that she ever made a complaint."

"Oh she's a game sport all right!" They then changed the subject and talked of the stock market and of business in which I had no interest. I wondered idly who this Irma Barton was, and where she lived, and if she were as pretty as Mr. Halliday seemed to think. I longed to know some of Everett's friends, and had no doubt that when we were settled in our home that they would also be my friends.

I was really anxious to reach Hendon. I knew from what Everett had said that he must have a nice home. I should miss nothing of shops and theaters in going to Hendon, and in addition I should be in my wonderful home and be able to write Rose all about it.

Several days afterward when Everett went out in the morning he remarked casually:

"I shall be engaged all day, so don't expect me to luncheon."

"I may go for a walk, mayn't I?" I asked.

"Yes—I guess you'll know enough to find your way back."

"Of course I will!" I kissed him rather enthusiastically.

I had walked for over an hour, and was standing in front of a most attractive store window when I heard a voice say:

"I am in luck indeed. Wont you take pity on me and lunch with me Mrs. Graham?" and Mr. Halliday, Everett's friend smiled down at me.

I was wholly unprepared for this invitation, and flushed and hesitated. I tried to formulate a graceful answer to his invitation, but the words would not come. I found myself being piloted along the street for a few steps, and into the door of a prominent restaurant.

Even after I was seated I was still confused, and had it not been for the tactful way in which Mr. Halliday ignored me, and gave the order, so giving me time to recover myself, I think I should have run from the table. But with the first course, delicious oysters, I felt more at ease, after all he was Everett's friend, why should I be so nervous about lunching with him; so, I bashfully tried to tell him that I never had been in a public place without Everett, and that was the reason I had hesitated.

"Oh, Graham won't care—at least what is sauce for the goose is, or should be sauce for the gander. And it is no secret that he does not hesitate to lunch with whom he pleases."

"But he is married now—he will." "Go right on doing as he pleases. You are not to live in a country town little lady. Morals in New York and in Lakeville are entirely a different affair. Then he went on to tell me of several people he knew, their mode of living, etc.

Absorbed, I leaned forward. Had I been older, more accustomed to the world I should have taken his chatter for what it was worth, and nothing more. But I had just asked him about Irma Barton, when he said:

"What did I tell you?" I looked up just in time to see Everett and another man walk to a corner table, and sit down, his broad back toward me.

To Be Continued.

MARTIN WOLF WRITES INTERESTINGLY ABOUT JOURNEY IN FRANCE

The following very interesting letter has been received from J. Martin Wolf, son of Leroy Wolf of this city. Private Wolf is with the 330 Supply Co., of the Q. M. C., and describes a very interesting trip which he had recently. He expects to sail for home soon. The letter follows:

June 23, 1919.

Dear Dad:— I have just returned from one of the finest trips I have ever had in my life and I am going to save the details to tell you when I get home and will just give you the outlines of where I have been.

I left St. Nazaire on the night of the 9th and went directly to Paris, after visiting the main points of interest in that place I went directly to the front to a place called Rheims which you know was one of the biggest points doing the war. After spending two days and two nights at this place and another place called Soissons about 20 miles apart and tramping over the fields where we kicked many a Moroccan and German's dried up body around. I suppose you will receive the shell I sent from one of these places by mail. Plenty of helmets but I refrained from sending one of those hoping to go up there again or rather around there when I won't have to think that the price of postage on this would mean a meal. After returning from there to Paris again I took the trip around the city that the Y. M. C. A. gave in the morning and then in the afternoon went to the former home of Louis the 14th who was King of France in the 15th century. I have beautiful scenes of this place in a nice book as well as some pictures I took personally with a borrowed camera. I also have a bunch of other pictures which I will mention as I continue with this letter. I have one which was taken on top of Eiffel tower as well as one of the same and of the Ferris wheel. I visited about all of the noted places in Paris and the time is so short until I will be home that I won't tell all of it. I forgot to tell you I was in the company of one of the finest bunch of fellows I have ever been in both from our company, one coming from Oklahoma and the other from Louisiana. We went from Paris to Nice taking 24 hours to make the trip but not without event. Had invitations out to dinner with a swell French family and I went to visit them before I came home. You understand we conducted ourselves in such a manner that we were welcomed everywhere we went. Even at the Y. M. C. A. in Rheims we had personal attention in the line of a cot to sleep on after all had been taken in before we arrived on our second night there. I want to go to this French family at Macon before I come home. We spent two nights in Nice seeing about all of interest and Monte-Carlo which is so noted, most magnificent thing I have ever seen. We then struck the most lucky thing I have ever done in my life, an automobile trip over the Alps mountains from the Mediterranean sea and the Italian border to Lake Geneva taking us three days and three nights. Just to give you an idea of the splendor of the whole thing, think of your trip through the Rockies and think how it would be with a machine. We had a sixty horse power Hotch-Kiss first and ended up with an eight cylinder Berliet, but the trip was a little expensive although not so when you think of the benefit I derived from it. Think of passing through villages where an American had never been seen before buying the real Swiss cheese and drinking goats milk to our hearts content. This is the smallest part of the journey. One could step out of the car in several places and have a real live snow fight, due to the altitude. When I reached Mont Blanc the highest peak in Europe and more noted than Pikes Peak we were taken up to the Mere De Glass as it is called in French, meaning sea of ice. Walking out on it with our guide and with one foot slipping if we had not been tied together would have meant death at the bottom of a pitiless glacier. Absolutely the most wonderful thing I have ever seen.

Paris is a beautiful place and is everything that is said of it, but I was completely carried away by the splendor of the mountains.

I have some wonderful views and it won't be long now until I sail. I will close with the best wishes to you all.

Your loving son,

J. MARTIN WOLF.

P. S.—This letter goes to you and mother and anyone who might be interested in just details. Will take a small book to write it all so will tell you when I do get home.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"Should I say just how long I expected a guest to stay with me, when I invite her for a visit?" asked Madge.

"Yes, it is customary nowadays. It is more pleasant and convenient for everybody concerned to have such matters settled in advance," replied her mother.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime. Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork.

By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses. Timidness, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardliness, are due in a large measure to abused nerves.

People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind; vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery; to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance; to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-feren every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before; if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feren is without doubt the greatest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. Sayre & Hemphill and all other druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

GREAT CALAMITY At Moser's Shoe Store

Rapid Advance in Prices
Causes Much Hesitation

Public to be Benefitted
In Spite of Advances.

The prices of shoes have advanced so rapidly that the Shoe Merchants can hardly afford to sell their stock at the prices that they now have it marked. Shoe Clearance Sales are almost passed out. It has been predicted that shoes will even double in prices which will make the best grades sell for as much as thirty dollars a pair. So many people think that the Retailer is greatly benefitted by the high prices of shoes. This is not so, the investment is much larger, it takes just double the capital to do business and then when the market goes the other way the Retailer must take the loss. Altho the time is not in sight when the market is to drop, but it will come eventually, but possibly not for six to eight years. For this Fall and next Spring shoes are still advancing. Mr. Moser has placed orders enough to take care of his business and with his present large stock it will be possible for him to take care of his trade and sell shoes at very reasonable prices. Moser's Shoe Store has the reputation of offering the Public Wonderful Shoe Values at very low prices, these sales are held twice a year, one in the early Fall and one towards the close of the Winter season. Here is what has caused the great calamity at Moser's Shoe Store, it's nearly time for the Semi-Annual Shoe Clearance Sale and Mr. Moser has been advised not to have a Shoe Sale this season, but he does not want to disappoint his customers, it has always been customary to have a shoe sale so why give it up this season just when the people will appreciate it most. The Shoe Salesmen say, "Don't Do It," and probably they are right. Mr. Moser has decided to have a Shoe Clearance Sale of his entire stock of high grade Footwear, the prices will be marked down instead of up, the public will have an opportunity to buy shoes at very low prices for nine days, July seventeenth to twenty-six, inclusive. This great Shoe Bargains will start Thursday, July seventeenth at nine a. m. A full page of Shoe Bargains will appear in this paper tomorrow night, be sure and read them over, you will surely attend this Shoe Sale. (Advertisement.)

Legal Notice

Robert W. Hutchinson and Walter T. Hutchinson, minor heirs of Edward Hutchinson, deceased, whose place of residence is 6210 Chaplain avenue, Chicago, Illinois, and Charles Carpenter, whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that on May 29, 1919, Mary E. Kiley filed her petition in the court of common pleas, Greene county, Ohio, praying for the partition of certain real estate in the City of Xenia, Greene County, Ohio, or which David Hutchinson died seized, and being twenty-four and one-half feet off the east side of the East Half of lot No. 129 and five (5) feet off the west side of lot No. 130, against the above-named, with other defendants. Said petition alleges that plaintiff is seized of the one-seventh part of said premises. The above named are required to answer said petition on or before Saturday, August 2, 1919.

Pie for Breakfast.

Some doctors are discovering and asserting that pie makes a first-class breakfast food. The decision is not as shocking an innovation as it may seem on first reading, for a good many people, who are not doctors, have been eating pie for breakfast many years. If pie is the indigestible thing so many people pretend it is, it looks like good sense to eat it in the morning—if you really have to eat it—and take the whole day for the business of digestion. —Philadelphia Press.

PLANT FOOD TREES ALONG THE ROADS

There's a substantial merit in the new law of Michigan for the planting of nut-bearing trees along the public road. The shortage of walnut, hickory and chestnut is indicated by abnormal prices, and the time when the supply will be exhausted is not far distant. The Michigan legislature did not pass upon the entire subject of forestry, but it made a good beginning, and if the work of this state Agricultural College and the State Highway Commission is thoroughly done the Legislature probably will be called upon to establish large state reservations for the growing of valuable timber.

In Michigan seeds and young trees are to be supplied and planted by the state as a part of the general plan of highway construction. An issue of $50,000,000 of state bonds is to be supplemented by Federal and local appropriations to the amount of $150,000,000. What proportion of this is required for tree planting has not as yet been determined, but a few millions will go a long way toward bordering the roads with ornamental and useful trees.

FAIRFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. O. Whitson, daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Peterson and daughter, Miss Vesta, of Xenia, called on A. L. Shuey and family, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. C. R. Shuey, son Fred Hoover and wife, of Dayton, took six o'clock dinner at the Shuey-Rockfield home.

Postmaster and Mrs. W. S. Douglas attended the funeral of their relatives Wednesday who were killed at Taylorsburg in an automobile accident Sunday. Funeral was at Verona, Preble county.

EAST END NEWS

Mrs. J. S. Ferguson has returned from a pleasant visit among relatives and friends in Wilmington and Sabina. She was gone several days.

R. J. Watkins returned home Sunday from the Centenary where he spent three weeks.

Joseph Washington is confined to his bed by reason of illness.

Lloyd W. Clark spent Sunday in Columbus, visiting his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Clark. His aged father is now past eighty years and in rather feeble health.

Mrs. Ardenia Cosby is quite ill with tonsillitis.

Chicago's Wild Onions.

Attempts have been made to prove that the name "Chicago" is from an Indian word, meaning mighty, or that it has some poetic or high moral significance, but the general opinion is that it is a form of the Indian name for wild onion, which grows abundantly in that locality.

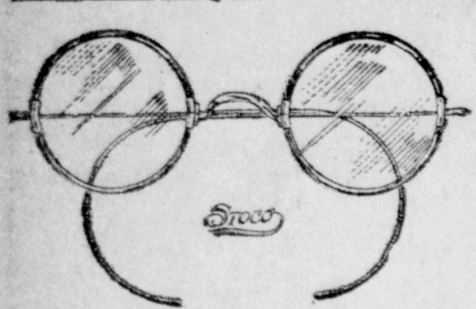

Bad Sickness Caused by Acid-Stomach

If people only realized the health-destroying power of an acid-stomach—the many kinds of sickness and misery it causes—the lives it literally wrecks—they would guard against it as carefully as they do against a deadly plague. You know in an instant the first symptoms of acid-stomach—pains of indigestion; distressing, painful bloating; sour, gassy stomach; belching; food repeating; heartburn, etc. Whenever your stomach feels this way you should lose no time in putting it to rights. If you don't, serious consequences are almost sure to follow, such as intestinal fermentation, auto-intoxication, impairment of the entire nervous system, headache, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, sometimes even catarrh of the stomach and intestinal ulcers and cancer.

If you are not feeling right, see if it isn't acid-stomach that is the cause of your ill health. Take EATONIC, the wonderful modern stomach remedy. EATONIC works quickly and surely relieves the pain, bloating, belching, and heartburn that indicate acid-stomach. Make the stomach strong, clean and sweet. By keeping the stomach in healthy condition so that you can get full strength from your food, your

MUCH MINOR DAMAGE IS DONE BY STORM

Much minor damage in this vicinity was caused by three electrical and wind storms which passed over Xenia and other parts of Greene county late Saturday night, and early Sunday morning.

WE FIT SPECTACLES
So you See Well and Look Well.
TIFFANY'S

The first storm broke out about 10:30, and it was accompanied by hail. Shortly after 3 o'clock and again about 6 o'clock Sunday morning, similar storms broke. Rain fell in torrents and there was a very high wind and a constant and terrifying display of electricity.

Local insurance men had not received any reports Monday forenoon of damage from the wind and lightning, but both the Central Union and Citizens' Telephone Companies had considerable minor trouble caused by lightning burning out lines and wires being blown down.

Trees were blown down, and branches of trees covered the streets Sunday morning.

A large half oval window over the main entrance to the court house was blown out and all was deposited on the cemented section above the sheriff's office. Only one small pane of glass was broken.

The rush of wind when this window blew out slammed shut and shattered

another oval window at the north end of the corridor on the second floor of the building.

Crops in the fields were not damaged as much as it was feared they would be by the storm.

Confederate Memorial Day.

April 26 is celebrated in Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi as Confederate Memorial day, a day that corresponds to May 30 in the North. The day was established by a woman from Georgia, Mary Ann Williams, who, in a letter printed in the Columbus Times in 1886, called upon her fellow citizens to observe the following April 26 as a day "to breathe the graves of our martyr-dead with flowers."

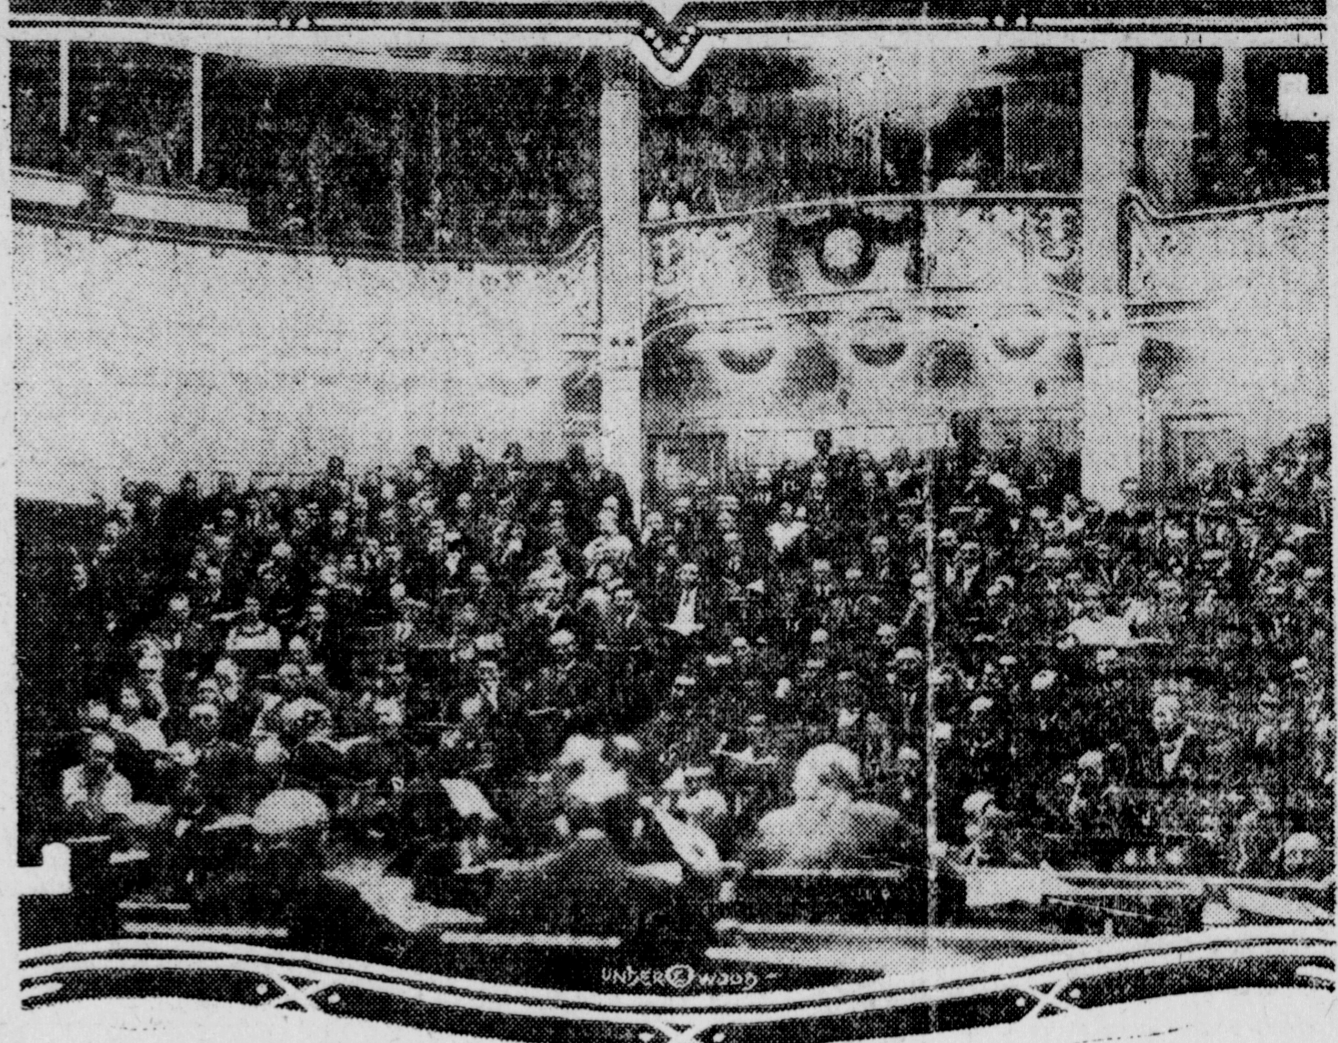

MISS WEAVER AND HER FIANCE GUESTS OF HONOR AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Dilver Belden gave a lovely dinner, followed by cards Saturday evening complimenting Miss Anne Weaver and her fiance, Mr. Schuyler N. McClellan. The Belden home on North Galloway street, is one of the most attractive in the city, and the soft decorative tones in the rooms blended with the rose and white which the hostess chose for the dinner colors.

Centering the table was a white wicker basket filled with long stemmed pink roses, and at each cover were pink baskets of bonbons. The place cards were decorated in pink. Dinner was in four courses, and there were covers for twelve.

Tables were in the living room for cards, and in this room rose and white snapdragons were used. The prizes went to Mrs. F. W. Chew and Mr. McClellan while the guest prize a hand painted plate was presented to Miss Weaver by the hostess.

MRS. MYRTLE JENKINS DIES OF TUBERCULOSIS

Mrs. Myrtle Jenkins, widow of Augustus Jenkins, died at the District Tuberculosis Hospital at Springfield at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. She suffered an attack of influenza last October from which she never recovered, resulting in tuberculosis. She had been in the hospital since last January.

Mrs. Jenkins was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ford and was born in Cedarville, March 28, 1880, being 39 years of age. She is survived by three children, Omer, of Brookville, Lawrence and Louise, of Greenville. She also leaves a sister and brother, Mrs. A. H. Reed, of Greenville and Harvey Ford, of Dayton.

The body was taken by Nagley Bros. to the home of a cousin, Mrs. Bert McFarland, in Cedarville, where funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial will be made in the North Cemetery Cedarville.

The President of Ireland seems to be taking his cue from President Wilson. They're both college professors and President De Valera seems to have made up his mind to spend a lot of his time in a foreign country.

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE MAKES SAFE JOURNEY

Pulham, Eng., July 4.—A force of 300 workmen were today engaged in overhauling the British dirigible R-34 in preparation for her flight to her base at East Fortune, Scotland. The starting point of her trans-Atlantic voyage. She is expected to take the air within two or three days and make the trip to East Fortune in about seven hours.

The R-34 landed here after her history-making flight across the Atlantic and back, in excellent condition. One of her engines must be replaced but this will be done after she arrives at East Fortune.

Pulham, Norfolk, England, July 14.—Great Britain's mammoth trans-Atlantic air pioneer, the dirigible R-34, arrived at the air station here at 6:50 from a height of 5,000 feet to 2,000 o'clock Greenwich mean time, yesterday, completing her round trip from the British Isles to the United States and return.

The R-34 poked her nose out of the clouds northeast of the village and after circling the flying field three times, glided gently to the ground and ten minutes later was housed in the dirigible shed. The voyage from Long Island was without particular incident and was completed in approximately 75 hours.

Soon after daybreak four hundred men stationed at the airdrome were roused from their sleep to prepare for the landing. Lookouts took position in towers and wireless operators prepared to pick up messages from the airship. The sun rose bright but soon afterward was obscured by clouds. There was no wind and those on watch were confident that the dirigible would arrive on time.

Shouts from those on the field greeted the first sight of the long gray body low on the horizon. As the R-34 approached the field, she dropped from a height of 5,000 feet to 2,000 feet. The men who were to aid the airship in landing were ordered to their positions and waited silently as the ship circled the field, dropping lower and lower.

When Major G. H. Scott her commander, had maneuvered the airship into position for the landing, the water ballast was released to steady her and a rope was thrown from her bow. The rope was grasped by eager hands and the giant ship moved across the field to the shed where the delicate operation of berthing her was completed quickly and without accident.

MARSHAL FOCH LEADS SOLDIERS IN VICTORY PARADE

By Robert J. Prew.

Paris, July 14.—Twenty thousand allied soldiers swung across Paris eastward today before the eyes of more than a million spectators who saw the great victory parade. Leading them on horseback was Marshal Foch, generalissimo and directing general of the allied forces in the world war. Beside him rode Marshal Joffre, hero of the battle of the Marne and riding at the head of the various contingent were Generals Pershings, Haig, Petain, Castelan and other great chiefs.

The troops marched in alphabetical order, which brought the Americans led by General Pershing, immediately behind Foch and Joffre. For two hours they swung through a double living wall four miles long with the cheers rising in one unending roar. The greatest moment of the day came when Foch and Joffre drove their horses under the magnificent Arc De Triomphe, followed by the soldiers of liberty.

Since France's defeat in 1870, the Arch of the finest architectural monument to Napoleon's victories had been barred to wheeled traffic by heavy swinging chains. In previous celebrations since the armistice, kings and princes had all passed around the arch, but today the stain of 1870 was wiped out; the chains were flung down and the victorious allied troops marched triumphantly beneath the towering structure while a solid mass of people filling the stands around the Place De L'Etoile broke into storms of cheering.

It is impossible to estimate the number of people along the line of march, but Paris papers today said that several millions saw or tried to see the spectacle. Representatives of nearly every civilized nation cheered themselves hoarse at the passing of the war heroes. A riot of overpowering emotion attended the scene in which full throated French applause was the dominant note.

But among the unprecedentedly great mass of people lining the route and packing the overlooking windows and balconies there were many manifestations of the most bitter grief. From these windows bereaved parents and children wept at the thought that a kinder fate would have allowed their kin to share in this unparalleled celebration.

But the pathos of the scene was dimmed by the most wonderful demonstration of rejoicing ever seen in the French capital. Today it is as though the peoples of earth were united in welcoming a millennium. What in fact is happening in Paris today is that the greatest men of Europe are joining the humblest in a feverish apotheosis of peace.

Before the rejoicings began today, France paid an official tribute to her more than a million and a half of dead last night in the most mournful ceremony in the history of the republic. A "death vigil" took place beneath the Arc De Triomphe where a huge tomb of war was built on a raised platform, sprinkled with the soil of many battlefields. A mammoth plaster figure of victory stood at each of the four corners. All night a picket of honor stood watch with arms reversed while a multitude of people, thousands weeping, filed beneath the arch before the sepulcher in silent homage to the fallen heroes. The candelabra were lighted at nightfall and cast flickering streams of light upon the people streaming solemnly past the tomb into the surrounding gloom of the vast arch.

Early this morning the sepulcher was removed to a corner of the Place De L'Etoile to allow the troops to march beneath the arch.

The route of the march from the Porte Maillot to the Place De La Republique was a scene of Babylonian splendor. At Porte Maillot through which the allied armies made their official entry into the city stood a great triumphal arch.

Along the Avenue De La Grande Armee and then along the Champs Elysees to the Place De La Concorde were festoons of gilded bunting which swung from a mast placed at thirty-foot intervals. Adorning the masts were luminous globes, flower baskets, clusters of allied flags and the coat of arms of French cities.

Displayed on pyramidal columns at frequent intervals were trophies of war, the steel helmets, rifles, haversacks and grenades mingling with the garlands of flowers, the whole war like display in each instance being surmounted by a gallic cock, emblem of French military valor.

The Arc De Triomphe stood undrained in all its splendor amidst a riot of flags and surrounded by a mammoth grandstand on the Place De L'Etoile. That section of the route from the Arc De Triomphe, down the Avenue Des Champs Elysees to the Place De La Concorde was officially styled "triumphal way" and here the biggest decorative effect was accomplished. Midway on the spacious Rond Point Des Champs Elysees Bas reliefs were erected on altars dedicated to the martyred cities of Verdun, Soissons, Rheims and Arras. Throughout the day clouds of vapor, pumped up by electricity flowed out from voice urns crowning these altars.

Here by special wish of Premier Clemenceau, captured German guns were heaped up pell mell, with the figure of a victorious Gallic cock perched above each heap.

Another plaster triumphal arch stood on the Place De Concorde at the entrance to the Tuilleries gardens. It bore on its entablature the words: "To our glorious armies" while upon the columns were inscribed the names of prominent generals.

The whole length of the Avenue Des Champs Elysees was a row of stands. Other giant stands were erected on the terrace of the Tuilleries gardens and around the Place De La Concorde. Here the official decorative scheme ended, but the remainder of the route up the Rue Royale and along the Grand Boulevard to the Place De La Concorde, through private initiative provided a record display of flags, banners, oriflammes and escutcheons.

Brilliant though the scene was, there was a general complaint that the decorations, which were carried out mainly by war artists, lacked the magnitude fitting such an historic occasion. The government appropriated something less than a million dollars and this, added to the fact that only a fortnight was given to devise and carry out the scheme, displeased many critics.

Paris was jammed to overflowing by great crowds of visitors that poured in from all over France. Hundreds of thousands spent the night without sleep and by daybreak the streets were teeming with people hurrying to the line of march. Every good place was occupied soon after dawn, when the troops began to redoubt in the Bois De Boulogne.

BERLIN STRIKE ENDS.

Berlin, July 14.—As a result of intervention by the federation of labor, a settlement of the transportation strike here has been effected. Traffic over subways and surface lines is expected to be resumed on Monday after a suspension of twelve days.

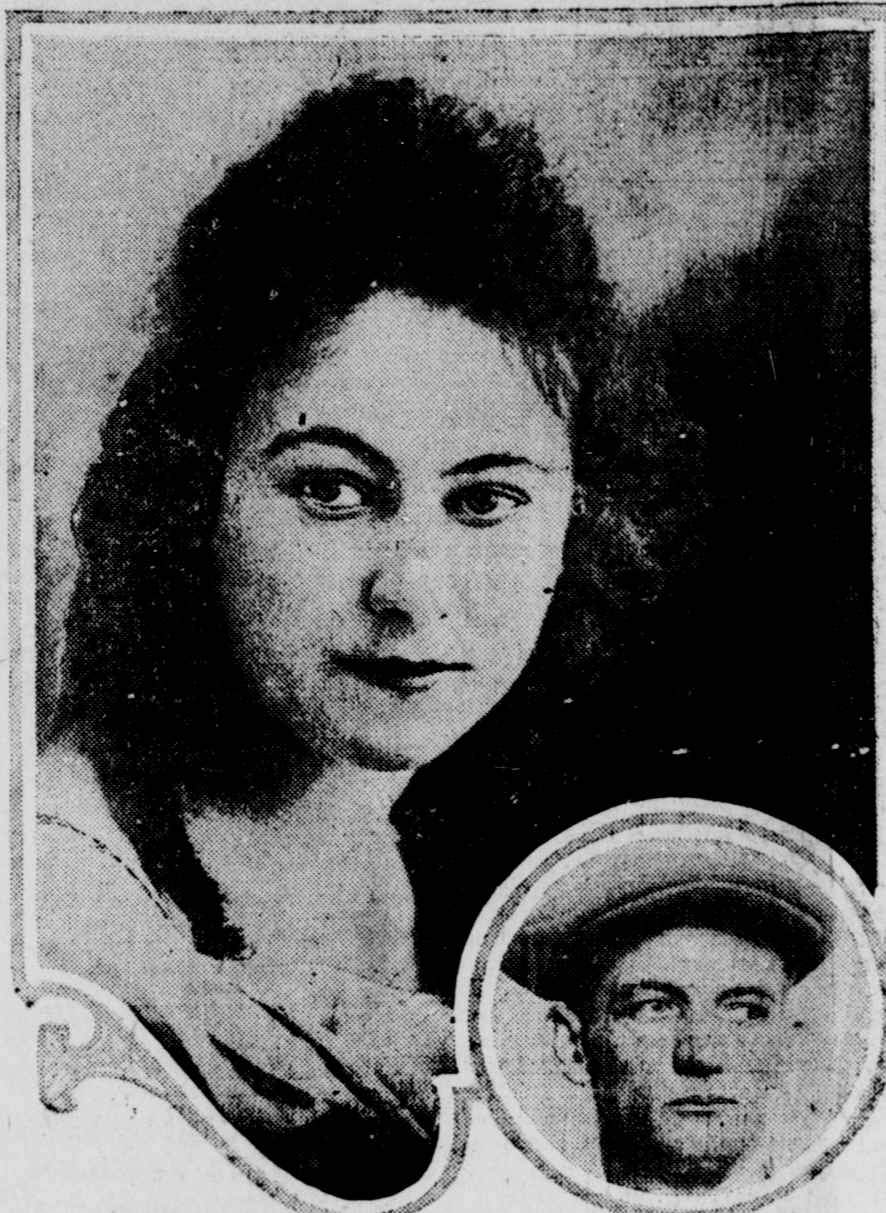

CAMPBELL INTRODUCES BILL WHICH IN FUTURE WOULD KEEP PRESIDENT HOME.

Representative Campbell.

Representative Campbell of Kansas has introduced a bill to prevent a President of the United States from ever again leaving his own country. Representative Campbell according to a report from Washington charged that President Wilson was an easy victim to the flattery of the European diplomats who beguiled him into agreeing to everything they sought at the Peace Conference. Mr. Campbell is chairman of the Rules Committee and one of the recognized leaders in Republican councils.

Miss Freida J. Lesser, the pretty victim of the California tragedy which has brought to light a romance of thirty years ago. Miss Lesser was shot and killed by her sweetheart, Harry S. New, in the lonely Topanga Canyon, near Santa Monica, Cal. New's mother, Mrs. Lulu Berger, of Indiana, claims United States Senator Harry S. New, of Indiana, as her boy's father, and says the noted statesman will surely come to their aid. New, who is thirty-two years old, in confessing his crime, declared he shot his fiancée because she told him she was going to evade motherhood. In a later declaration, when confronted by evidence of physicians, he said Miss Lesser had refused to marry him.

NEW LABOR PARTY FAILS TO ENDORSE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Cleveland, O., July 14.—Cleveland's new labor party refused to endorse the League of Nations at its closing session tabling a resolution which was called for approval of the covenant.

The convention also modified its stand on prohibition, passing a resolution favoring light wines and beers but condemning "hard liquors."

Sympathy for Ireland's fight for independence was expressed in a resolution adopted before adjournment. The convention decided not to put a candidate in the field for the mayoralty campaign this fall.

KILLS MAN IN FULL SIGHT OF HUNDREDS

Cleveland, July 14.—One of the most sensational murders the police have been called upon to solve in years took place this morning in the heart of the commission house district when an unknown man in full sight of hundreds of pedestrians and workers fired five shots into the body of Samuel Amata, an Italian expressman. Flourishing the smoking revolver the murderer held pursuers at bay until he escaped in the congested district south of the scene of the murder. Police believe that blackhanders caused the murder of Amata.

CLEVELAND GREET THE NC-4 HEROES

Cleveland, Ohio, July 14.—A series of luncheons, mass meetings and receptions culminating in a banquet tonight at the Cleveland yacht club greeted the heroes of the NC-4, first airmen to cross the Atlantic. Commander P. L. Bellinger was the first of the noted guests to arrive. Lieut. Commander Read and other members of the crew came later. Lieut. Commander John T. Towers of the NC 3 is also here for the celebration of the Americans' epoch making flight.

BOY RETURNS AFTER BEING AWAY A YEAR

Cleveland, O., July 14. — Through recognition by a neighbor in Buffalo, Cyril F. Callahan, 14, whose disappearance from his home in Youngstown, a year ago started a nation wide quest, is home again. His father met him here as he stopped off the boat in charge of the neighbor. He said he had traveled all over the country with a man alleged to have kidnapped him, working as a section hand part of the time.

EX-KAISER IS NOT THE BROKEN MAN HE HAS BEEN PICTURED

BY AMBROSE LAMBERT.

Amerongen, Holland, July 14.—William Hohenzollern, ex-kaiser is not the broken man he has been pictured, nor is he apparently worrying over the prospect of facing trial for war crimes according to his appearance.

The correspondent had an extremely close view of him and the former empress and a secretary while walking the grounds of the castle of Count Bentinck. The one time emperor was laughing gaily, talking animatedly and swinging his cane just as he did in pre-war days, as I crossed the bridge over the castle moat. William was dressed in brown tweeds and his figure was strikingly erect, though rather stout. There was no sign that he had been bowed down by the weight of his woes.

ST. HELENA WANTS THE EX-KAISER AS PERMANENT GUEST

London, July 14.—St. Helena, to which Napoleon was exiled, wants the ex-Kaiser, according to a correspondent of The Daily Mail, and the inhabitants are speculating on where he will live.

Incidentally, a Copenhagen dispatch says The Extrabladet learns from a diplomatic source that the Netherlands Government as a result of unofficial negotiations, is ready to deliver the former Emperor to the allies and proposes to do it at The Hague.

As to the news from St. Helena, where there is a population of 4,000, The Weekly Observer heads a letter "Send Him Here" and says the island colony is greatly excited over the prospect of getting another imperial hostage.

In selecting a house for him, Longwood, which was Napoleon's home, and King's House, the residence of General Cronje, captured at Paardeburg, are suggested. There is another possibility, Longwood New House. The old Longwood is ramshackle though still imposing.

THREE HORSES DIE WHEN BARN BURNS

St. Mary's July 14.—Fire caused by lightning burned three horses Sunday including one of the best draft teams in St. Mary's township together with a large harvest of new hay and a complete outfit of farm implements belonging to F. Carl Leitz with the barn on the farm of Mrs. Fredericka Heusch. There is partial insurance.

BOTH SIDES STAND PAT ON STRIKE

Cleveland, July 14.—With all exchanges picketed, the telephone strike which began Saturday morning entered its third day today with both sides standing firm and the next move up to Postmaster General Burleson.

Both companies were giving service today, the Bell close to normal and the Ohio State showing improvement over Saturday. However the strike leaders claimed they were securing recruits in considerable numbers and were jubilant over the announcement that Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, president of the Ohio Woman Suffrage Association, would appeal to President Wilson in their behalf.

DEPOSED PRESIDENT OF PERU BANISHED

Lima Peru July 14.—Jose Pardo, who was forced from the Presidency July 4, by partisans of Augusto Leguia, has left prison on his way into exile.

Accompanied by his brother Juan, former head of the Chamber of Deputies, the former President went to Chorrillos, where the brothers embarked on the steam tug Hercules to sail North.

It was expected that the tug would overtake the Peruvian line steamer Uoayall off the Peruvian coast, where the Pardo brothers would go aboard. The former executive will arrive at Panama on July 17, and will await his family before proceeding to Paris by way of New York.

The departure of the former President occasioned no excitement. The political situation throughout the country continues to be tranquil.

YANKIES ARE SLIPPING.

New York, July 14.—The Yankees are slipping. They started their second western invasion in the van of American League pennant hunters. Today they have been displaced by the White Sox and are trailing by three games.

Yankee teams of their years, with pennant aspirations, have cracked on the road. New York fans are wondering if Miller Huggins' team is going to follow suit.

BATTLE LINES ARE BEING DRAWN FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS FIGHT

BY J. BART CAMPBELL.

Washington, July 14.—Warfare over the League of Nations and other disputed provisions of the peace treaty was to be renewed in the senate today with President Wilson's supporters and antagonists busily engaged in "digging in" for what was expected to be a protracted and bitterly fought parliamentary and oratorical battle.

Since the president addressed the senate and laid before it the peace treaty on Thursday, the lines between League proponents, the lines between have been more tightly drawn than they were before his return from the peace conference.

Both sides still claimed victory but the Republican leaders of the senate, face to face at last with the concrete proposition of either ratifying or rejecting the treaty as it was signed at Versailles, admitted the opposition to President Wilson was still divided as to the form proposed textual amendments or qualifying reservation should take.

Before the senate met at noon the Republican leaders hoped to have agreed on a definite program which would prove satisfactory to the president's opponents. The finishing touches on such a program were to be applied at a final conference of Republicans early today, the last of a series which have been going on since the senate adjourned on Thursday last after the appearance of the president before it.

Other developments scheduled for today were:

1. First meeting of the senate foreign relations committee to consider the peace treaty.

2. Adoption by the committee of a motion to accept the president's offer to appear before it.

3. Defeat of a motion by Senator Knox, anti-league Republicans of Pennsylvania, was to offer in the committee, to provide for the separation of the league of nations covenant from the treaty, a mooted question which other Republican leaders have tentatively agreed would be left to the senate itself.

4. Determination by the Republican leaders whether textual amendments should or should not be attempted because of the possible lack of the majority vote essential to their adoption, some of them favoring a less radical program confined to qualifying reservations to it instead of the treaty itself. With an agreement as to what such reservations should be, they expected, they stated, to muster sufficient votes to prevent the two-thirds necessary for the ratification of the treaty in its present form, or, to secure concessions at least from the administration forces.

PRO-AMERICAN POLICY ADVOCATED BY VON BERNSTORFF

Berlin, July 14.—Count von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador at Washington, writing in the Weekly Democratic, Germany, advocates a pro-American policy and points out that a revision of the treaty of peace can come only through the League of Nations.

"When Germany is received into the League," he says, "she can hope for a world order, checking imperialism by individual powers, and bringing about a system binding peoples together across the frontiers of state."

I hardly need to point out that such a policy would lead us to the side of the United States. There the danger of a League of Nations is a living one. There, alone are funds to be found, and there the principal champion of the league idea will be at the helm for another 20 months.

Count von Bernstorff says that socialism is unpopular in the United States, and therefore if Germans wish to cultivate friendly relations with that country they must convince Americans, not only that militarism is dead, but that new Germany has no intention of fostering a socialist world revolution.

WILL CONTINUE THE SAME OLD GAME

Berlin, July 13, via London July 14.—A threat to instill a spirit of revenge in German children is contained in a proclamation signed by a number of high school teachers which was published in conservative newspapers today. After criticizing the entente the proclamation concludes: "If we are compelled to fulfill these peace terms, we turn away with contempt from nations which lacked the moral force to suppress this criminal might to make our children and grand jurgery and will work with all our children inherit this sentiment and to keep it permanently alive in the German nation."

Professor Kuno Meyer, well known in the United States as a lecturer was one of the signers.

FIRES CAUSE $400,000 LOSS

Huntington, W. Va., July 14.—Two fires which broke out simultaneously here today, destroyed three buildings in the business section and damaged the Armour and company plant. The loss is estimated at more than $400,000. Lightning was the cause of each blaze.

SIR EDWARD CARSON WARNS AMERICANS TO KEEP HANDS OFF

London, July 14.—Significance was attached in political circles today to the fact that the Chronicle, the organ of Premier Lloyd George, the Telegraph and the Morning Post made no editorial comment upon the speech of Sir Edward Carson on Saturday, demanding the repeal of the home rule for Ireland bill and warning Americans not to interfere in Irish affairs.

The Daily Mail, Lord Northcliffe's paper, which has been criticizing the premier, said under the caption "Carson's bolshevism."

"Is there one law for Robert Smillie (head of the coal miners union) and another for Sir Edward Carson? A Bonar Law, government leader in commons, declared that the government will use all the resources of the state against direct action by the miners and the railway workers. The government would make the path easier if it let it be known that it intends to deal firmly with the Bolshevism of ex-Ministers as well as of labor agitators."

The Times, another Northcliffe paper, declared Sir Edward was responsible for the Easter rising at Dublin in 1916 but that he possibly did not foresee that at the time.

"But he has no such excuse today," continued the Times. "When he condemns the rebellion of 1916 he should remember that he is the last man in Great Britain with less right to do so and when he tells America to mind her own business he courts the retort that the wishes of 15,000,000 Irish-Americans are part of her (Ireland's) business. There is no room for dictatorships in a commonwealth of free democracies—neither dictatorship of the proletariat nor the orangemen."

One-Sided Humor.

After the company had gone, Mrs. Mason said to her husband, "What on earth did you mean, John, by telling the Flemings that my humor was positive, but not negative?" "I meant," said Mr. Mason discreetly moving toward the door, "that you could make a joke, but couldn't take one."

CHAUTAUQUA IS MOST AMERICAN OF ALL AMERICAN INSTITUTIONS

Chautauqua, N. Y., July 14.—This "most American of all American institutions," as President Roosevelt called it, is certainly this year living up to its traditions. It is increasingly popular, it would seem; for President Bestor announced yesterday that the attendance had already broken the record for any previous second week of July.

It is keeping up its American traditions, too. Americanism is in the air, and Chautauqua is nothing if not genuinely progressive and up to the forward-looking minute. The national keynote is struck in almost every program. One flourishing organization, the Americanization Conference, devotes its whole energy to the propagation of national spirit; and Prof. Thomas F. Moran of Purdue University, gave yesterday to its members a most stimulating address on "American Ideals Worth Perpetuating."

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the Chautauqua Woman's Club, and ex-president of the National Federation of Woman's Clubs, in a strong and dramatic speech, Wednesday, presented a plea for the erection of community houses which should perpetuate the ideals for which men fought in the war and should serve as meeting places for American and foreign-born around one common hearthstone. Even in musical programs, the patriotic note is sounded. An "All American Program" was presented in the amphitheater, on Wednesday, also, by Mr. James Robert Gillette, which revealed to some of us an unsuspected mastery of technique and tone in our young American composers.

But the Chautauqua platforms are clearing-houses for ideas on all sorts of subjects. If every member of the Woman's Club returns to her friends without a marked increase in her personal charm, it will certainly not be the fault of Miss Bragg, of the school of expression, who told them, Tuesday afternoon, in a personally charming way, just "How to be Interesting."

Professor Edwin Mims, Vanderbilt University, is giving a remarkably effective series of lectures on "Right Thinking," and Miss Anna Barrows spoke yesterday in the amphitheater on the "Education of the Eater." Miss Ada Van Stone Harris stresses the disastrous combination in the educational world of the low cost of teaching with the high cost of living.

Attorney General Palmer will speak July 26, on some subject connected with his branch of the administration and Mr. Earl Barnes, of Philadelphia, one of the most popular of all the Chautauqua lecturers, will give in the first weeks of August a group of addresses on the New Nations of Europe. Indeed, with apologies to Lewis Carroll, Chautauqua's so full of a number of things.

I am sure we should all be as happy as kings.

The drama this week had as its exponent, Professor S. F. Clark, Chicago University, who presented Israel Zangwill's The Melting Pot from the stage of the amphitheatre. Attention was called to the Arts and Crafts department of the schools by Mr. Royal W. Farnum, New York, who said jocularly, "Here in Chautauqua, of all places in this country, is to be found a collection of all the arts that go to make a nation. Only two things have we not done here, architecture and pottery."

Ohio is well represented here in this Summer School of the Lake. She ranks third in the number of members of the Woman's Club and contributes ten members to the Summer Schools Faculty. There are hundreds of Ohioans registered at the Bureau of Information and among them a half dozen from Xenia: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Little, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Armstrong and Miss Dorothy Armstrong.

Meantime Chautauqua's skies are blue, the chestnut and the lindens are in bloom, and the bounds of summer follow traces of the spring. E. B. C.

OVERSEAS FLIGHT STOPPED BY BLOWOUT

St. Johns, N. F., July 14.—Captain R. P. Raynham, whose attempt to start on a trans-Atlantic airplane flight, was prevented today by the blowout of a tire on his Martinsyde machine, planned to make another effort this afternoon, weather permitting.

The machine has already been repaired and overhauled.

SPRING VALLEY TEAM DEFEATED

The Spring Valley Spartans, the ball team organized recently by Ben Cline, formerly of the Reserves, was defeated by the narrow margin of 2-1 when they played Waynesville a return game Sunday afternoon.

The Spring Valley lads were defeated in one big inning when their short stop made a wild heave and let in two runs. Outside of the one bad inning, Wakely, who hurled for the Greene County outfit, breezed along in fine style and had things his own way. Wakely was used in the box instead of Barnard, in order to give him a trial, and the latter was used in the field.

The Spartans are playing good ball and recently sent out a challenge to teams in this section. It is thought that they will play Clarksville next Sunday. The batteries Sunday were Spring Valley—Wakely and Cline; Waynesville—Osborn and Curtis.

STAR PLAYER OF RESERVES HAS LEG BROKEN IN GAME

The defeat of the Xenia Reserves at the hands of the Springfield All Stars Sunday afternoon by the score of 7-5 was further clouded by the injury which removed Frank "Deacon" Bath, sterling first sacker for the locals, from the pastime in the third inning.

Taking a throw from Randall when Lemon took a lead off of first, the steady first baseman of the Reserves was knocked down when the runner slid into the bag, suffering a fracture and dislocation of the right ankle. He was hurried in the Lawrence Johns automobile to the office of Dr. A. C. Messenger where the fracture as reduced and the injury set, after which he was removed to his home.

After Bath's removal from the line up the team lost most of its "pep." The splendid first sacker has been a fixture at the initial station ever since the organization of the Reserves. His steadiness and good sportsmanship made him a favorite with both players and fans and his loss will mean a big one to the chances of the local team this season. His injury was entirely accidental and fans held no malice toward Lemon, who unfortunately caused it.

Minus Stiles at the keystone corner, who pleaded for a day off because he was invited away for dinner, and further crippled by the absence of the faithful "Deacon" the Reserves played a poor article of ball at the yard Sunday and succumbed after a hard fight to Rust and his followers. It may be said of Foley's followers that they were fighting all the way, but handicapped as they were, never had the lead.

Rust, who caught for the White Sox, here earlier this season, was in the box for the visitors and while he didn't have any more than his glove, the locals were not able to solve his offerings frequently at any one time. On the other hand the Home City crowd secured 13 hits off of Koontz's delivery, which were distributed well and might not have proven injurious had it not been for several costly errors. The Reserves stole 9 bases off of Wagner.

The lineup: Xenia—Leahey ss. De-Atley 2b, Fuller cf, Weaver 3b. Bath-Mills 1b, Weller lf, Earley rf, Randall c. Koontz p; Springfield—Lemon lf, Goddard cf, Ainsie ss, Grimsley 1b, Rust p, O'Neil 2b, J. Myers rf, Jackson 3b, Wagner c. Umpire—Ratchford. The score:

DEMENTED MAN REFUSES TO EAT

Believing that he was in danger of being poisoned, Neil Purdum of Yellow Springs, taken into custody at the District Tuberculosis Hospital, Springfield by Sheriff Funde, Sunday, refusing to eat or drink after being placed under arrest. He was adjudged insane by Probate Judge J. C. Marshall Monday morning, on the testimony of Dr. R. R. Richison, medical superintendent of the hospital, and Dr. Adams of Yellow Springs.

Purdum was admitted to the hospital a week ago, and Saturday he grew violently insane, and although he is weak and emaciated by illness, nearly demolished a shack at the hospital.

THEATERS

BIJOU.

A dual role such as has never before been attempted by moving picture artists is that in which Pauline Frederick plays in the Goldwyn release, "One Week of Life," at the Bijou theater Tuesday.

The role calls for the most unusual dual acting ever seen on screen or stage, and it is thought Miss Frederick has the greatest part of her career. An excellent supporting cast adds to the weight of the splendid vehicle chosen for her. In this cast are Thomas Holledge, Sydney Ainsworth and Corinne Barker.

Orphium.

June Elvidge has the lead in a very interesting story of perturbed married life, which is told under the title of "The Love Defenders," and will appear at the Orphium Theater.

The production is a World picture and tells the story of the fight of a woman to win the love of her husband and who married her to spite another. Frank Mayo, Isabel O'Madigan, Madge Evans, Jeff Johnson and others are in the cast.

Famo Dissolves Dandruff Scale and Destroys Bacilli

After the first application of Famo, you should not have a flake of dandruff. If the case is stubborn, a little may remain, but not for long. The germs will be dead and dying—the new growth begun. Your hair will be like the hair of healthy children: your scalp like a baby's scalp. All itching will be gone.

Famo Will Win Fight If it is falling out, your hair is fighting for its life. Famo will win that fight by killing the bacilli which kill the hair. Dandruff is a disease which scientists call Seborrhea. Freed from the bondage of that disease by Famo, the hair leaps into luxuriant new growth.

Healthy, Beautiful Hair It is, we repeat, like renewing the youth of the scalp—giving back to your hair its early strength and beauty. Famo will keep the head continuously clean—the hair fresh, full of life, soft, smooth and glossy.

If your hair ever had a natural tendency to wave, Famo will bring back the waviness and intensity of it.

New Hair Is Grown

New hair growth from Famo is constantly being reported. Some of the cases are so remarkable that they cannot be reported in print, because they would tax your credulity. You must learn from personal experience, and the experience of your friends. Famo contains no alcohol to dry the scalp and produce gray hairs. As Famo requires no scalp massage, its application is simple. Every member of the family should use it every day.

Famo is sold at all toilet goods counters in two sizes—a small size at 35 cents and an extra large bottle for $1.00. Your money will be returned if you are not satisfied.

Seborrhea is the medical name for a morbidly increased flow from the sebaceous glands of the scalp. The seborrhean excretion forms in scales or flakes and is commonly known as dandruff.

Jenkins Drug Store—For five years I have been in a very nervous condition. I did not have the nerve force to digest my food. I could only eat a few things. Doctors told me not to eat any cold lunch. My stomach and digestion were in very bad condition. Gas formed on my stomach and caused terrible bloating. My blood was in very bad condition and circulation poor. My legs were cold and numb feeling in them and my hands. Could not obtain any relief from my nervous breakdown until I took one bottle of Nerv-Worth and that changed everything. I am nervous no more. Can eat anything any time no bloating and stomach and digestion in fine condition. Good circulation and blood. No numbness and cold feeling in my legs and hands. I am now feeling fine and have regained my health and vigor.

SHALL WE CLINCH THE JOB, OR NOT?

When the Huns, right in the start of their terrible onslaught on the world's peace, designated a solemn treaty with another nation as simply "a scrap of paper," they thereby told the whole story that an agreement which lacks the power to enforce it, is null and void.

This truth is the very kernel of the League of Nations, the Germans themselves having furnished the absolute necessity for it. What would a law against murder, and a verdict against murder, be worth if there was no provision for enforcing the penalty? Absolutely nothing.

Suppose then that after four years of frightful bloodshed, four years of unprecedented beastliness on the part of the Germans the United States and her allies had been able to overcome them, say you that it would have been sufficient to make peace in the ordinary way and have things relapse into the condition they were before; to leave Prussia and Germany the arrogant, bullies they had always been in preying upon weaker nations; to leave them a future menace even to our own fair land. Think you that the Allies would have felt this a recompense for all the blood and treasure expended? We do not believe it.

Ah, but you say, look at the way things have been torn up in Europe, was all this necessary—and our own entrance into the world conflict—are we not going right against Washington's advice to avoid "entangling alliances" with foreign nations? Sure we are—and the reason is that as a nation we have put off our swaddling clothes, and even our knee breeches, and have emerged into the full stature of manhood—have taken our place among the nations of the world, not only ready to bear our share of the burdens thereof, but standing forth the sublime peer of them all, to which they now all look as the greatest example of civilization on the face of the earth.

And as to tearing up Europe—didn't it need tearing up? Since the world began the theory has been that "right makes right"—the most infamous doctrine ever invented by the devil. Prince and pauper has ever been its assumption. The very antithesis of our own glorious theory that all men are born equal. The doctrine that some men are "born to rule" has been kicked out doors—"new day" has come to the world—all are looking up and taking in a life-giving breath of the delicious fresh air of Freedom, Thank God.

We have fought a good fight, and shall we now lay down our arms without completing the job by clinching it with the power to make the world keep the peace? The United States Senate should ratify the treaty without a moment's delay. "To doubt would be disloyalty, to falter would be sin."

WANT US TO EAT MORE BEEF.

During the war we were all "Hooverized" for the benefit of our soldier boys and for our Allies across the ocean. One of the things we were urged to eat less of was beef, in order that they over there could have more.

Now a singular condition happens. We are urged to eat more beef, for the benefit of the cattle raisers. Of course, on account of the end of the war, the export has fallen off wonderfully. May, 1919, for instance, showing exports of only 26 million pounds of beef, against 95 million pounds in May, 1918.

Members of the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange have inaugurated a national campaign to avert losses to graziers and feeders of cattle. They are enlisting the support of the leading livestock organizations of the United States, bankers in the cattle-raising states of the West, national legislators and the United States Department of Agriculture in an attempt to increase domestic consumption of beef and also enlarge the limited export outlets.

"We want to stem the sensational downward movement of the market for cattle in order to prevent ruin to thousands of producers," declared E. W. Houx, president of the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange. "Nearly every load of feed cattle now coming to Kansas City and to other markets as well, is losing $30 to $50 a head, or as much as $1600 or more for the full car. Unless domestic consumption and export buying is increased there is danger of further declines, which already amount to more than $3 to $5 per hundredweight as compared with the opening of April. Our big receipts of grass-cattle are about to start, and drastic measures must be taken quickly to improve the market."

Among the measures which stockmen hope to bring about is a lowering of retail quotations to consumers to a level which will correspond to the range of prices now prevailing on live cattle. It is alleged by stockmen that the retailers have been exacting profits of 70 to 100 per cent on dressed beef, thereby discouraging consumption of beef.

It is stated that the stockmen have gone so far in their effort to boost prices as to advocate government aid, if necessary, in financing European buying of beef in the United States. This is pretty rough on the consumer—collect money of him to boost the price of his foodstuff.

There is a disposition to attribute the reduced consumption of beef to some extent to the habits formed during war time. The meatless days are thought to have shown large numbers of persons that they can get on without meat. Yes, but that was when we thought it a patriotic duty to do so. But to do so for the benefit of the cattle raiser, ah, that is another thing.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS.

SANDRA DINES WITH MR.
HALLIDAY
CHAPTER XII.

We went to a very attractive restaurant for dinner. We had not long seated when Mr. Halliday came in. To my surprise Everett asked him to join us; which he did with profuse thanks for the invitation. Why did Everett ask him to join us after the way he had spoken of him? It seemed strange to me and I expect I was more than a little absorbed in trying to adjust things in my mind, and so was not a very interesting companion. Because the first thing I knew Everett and his guest were talking of people of whom I never had heard.

"She is lovelier than ever!" Mr. Halliday said.

"Yes—she has improved wonderfully, and yet there seemed little room for improvement," Everett replied slowly. "She is one of the most charming women I know."

"Barton drank himself to death I heard."

"I don't know as to that; but Irma certainly had a lot to stand from him. I admire the way she kept her own counsel. I never have heard that she ever made a complaint."

"Oh she's a game sport all right!"

"They then changed the subject and talked of the stock market and of business in which I had no interest. I wondered idly who this Irma Barton was, and where she lived, and if she were as pretty as Mr. Halliday seemed to think. I longed to know some of Everett's friends, and had no doubt that when we were settled in our home that they would also be my friends."

I was really anxious to reach Hendon. I knew from what Everett had said that he must have a nice home. I should miss nothing of shops and theaters in going to Hendon, and in addition I should be in my wonderful home and be able to write Rose all about it.

Several days afterward when Everett went out in the morning he remarked casually:

"I shall be engaged all day, so don't expect me to luncheon."

"I may go for a walk, mayn't I?" I asked.

"Yes—I guess you'll know enough to find your way back."

"Of course I will," and I kissed him rather enthusiastically.

I had walked for over an hour, and was standing in front of a most attractive store window when I heard a voice say:

"I am in luck indeed. Won't you take pity on me and lunch with me Mrs. Graham?" and Mr. Halliday, Everett's friend smiled down at me.

I was wholly unprepared for this invitation, and flushed and hesitated. I tried to formulate a graceful answer to his invitation, but the words would not come. I found myself being piloted along the street for a few steps, and into the door of a prominent restaurant.

Even after I was seated I was still confused, and had it not been for the tactful way in which Mr. Halliday ignored me, and gave the order, so giving me time to recover myself, I think I should have run from the table. But with the first course, luscious oysters, I felt more at ease, after all he was Everett's friend, why should I be so nervous about lunching with him; so, I bashfully tried to tell him that I never had been in a public place without Everett, and that was the reason I had hesitated.

"Oh, Graham won't care—at least what is sauce for the goose is, or should be sauce for the gander. And it is no secret that he does not hesitate to lunch with whom he pleases."

"But he is married now—he will." "Go right on doing as he pleases. You are not to live in a country town little lady. Morals in New York and in Lakeville are entirely a different affair. Then he went on to tell me of several people he knew, their mode of living, etc.

Absorbed, I leaned forward. Had I been older, more accustomed to the world I should have taken his chatter for what it was worth, and nothing more. But I had just asked him about Irma Barton, when he said:

"What did I tell you?"

I looked up just in time to see Everett and another man walk to a corner table, and sit down, his broad back toward me.

To Be Continued.

MARTIN WOLF WRITES
INTERESTINGLY ABOUT
JOURNEY IN FRANCE

The following very interesting letter has been received from J. Martin Wolf, son of Leroy Wolf of this city. Private Wolf is with the 330 Supply Co., of the Q. M. C., and describes a very interesting trip which he had recently. He expects to sail for home soon. The letter follows:

June 23, 1919.

Dear Dad:— I have just returned from one of the finest trips I have ever had in my life and I am going to save the details to tell you when I get home and will just give you the outlines of where I have been.

I left St. Nazaire on the night of the 9th and went directly to Paris, after visiting the main points of interest in that place I went directly to the front to a place called Rheims which you know was one of the biggest points doing the war. After spending two days and two nights at this place and another place called Soissons about 20 miles apart and tramping over the fields where we kicked many a Moroccan and German's dried up body around. I suppose you will receive the shell I sent from one of these places by mail. Plenty of helmets but I refrained from sending one of those hoping to go up there again or rather around there when I won't have to think that the price of postage on this would mean a meal.

After returning from there to Paris again I took the trip around the city that the Y. M. C. A. gave in the morning and then in the afternoon went to the former home of Louis the 14th who was King of France in the 15th century. I have beautiful scenes of this place in a nice book as well as some pictures I took personally with a borrowed camera. I also have a bunch of other pictures which I will mention as I continue with this letter. I have one which was taken on top of Eiffel tower as well as one of the same and of the Ferris wheel. I visited about all of the noted places in Paris and the time is so short until I will be home that I won't tell all of it. I forgot to tell you I was in the company of one of the finest bunch of fellows I have ever been in both from our company, one coming from Oklahoma and the other from Louisiana. We went from Paris to Nice taking 24 hours to make the trip but not without event. Had invitations out to dinner with a swell French family and I went to visit them before I come home. You understand we conducted ourselves in such a manner that we were welcomed everywhere we went. Even at the Y. M. C. A. in Rheims we had personal attention in the line of a cot to sleep on after all had been taken in before we arrived on our second night there. I want to go to this French family at Macon before I come home. We spent two nights in Nice seeing about all of interest and Monte-Carlo which is so noted, most magnificent thing I have ever seen. We then struck the most lucky thing I have ever done in my life, an automobile trip over the Alps mountains and the Italian border to Lake Geneva taking us three days and three nights. Just to give you an idea of the splendor of the whole thing, think of your trip through the Rockies and think how it would be with a machine. We had a sixty horse power Hotch-Kiss first and ended up with an eight cylinder Berliet, but the trip was a little expensive although not so when you think of the benefit I derived from it.

Think of passing through villages where an American had never been seen before buying the real Swiss cheese and drinking goats milk to our hearts content. This is the smallest part of the journey. One could step out of the car in several places and have a real live snow fight, due to the altitude. When I reached Mont Blanc the highest peak in Europe and more noted than Pikes Peak we were taken up to the Mere De Glass as it is called in French, meaning sea of ice. Walking out on it with our guide and with one foot slipping if we had not been tied together would have meant death at the bottom of a pitiless glacier. Absolutely the most wonderful thing I have ever seen.

Paris is a beautiful place and is everything that is said of it, but I was completely carried away by the splendor of the mountains.

I have some wonderful views and it won't be long now until I sail.

I will close with the best wishes to you all.

Your loving son,

J. MARTIN WOLF.

P. S.—This letter goes to you and mother and anyone who might be interested in just details. Will take a small book to write it all so will tell you when I do get home.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"Should I say just how long I expected a guest to stay with me, when I invite her for a visit?" asked Madge.

"Yes, it is customary nowadays. It is more pleasant and convenient for everybody concerned to have such matters settled in advance," replied her mother.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mr. Clark McClellan, of Troy, was a visitor in this city yesterday.

The Xenia National bank has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 1-2 per cent payable to the stockholders on and after next Monday.

The Progress clothing store is packing up and preparing to move to Portsmouth, Orville Rome, who has been clerking at the store, expects to go with it.

Friends have heard from Cliff Sutton, who joined a circus band here this spring, and he is now in Massachusetts. He has signed with another organization and will leave soon for Chicago, Clint Rader, who is with the same circus, is also getting along well.

Earl Smith son of Judge H. L. Smith, spent Fourth of July in England, having recently crossed ocean on the Monongahela.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER
NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous,
Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime. Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork.

By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drinks—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardliness, are due in a large measure to abused nerves.

People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind; vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery; to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance; to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-feren every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before; if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. Sayre & Hemphill and all other druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

TWO—BIG FEATURES—TWO

GREAT CALAMITY
At Moser's Shoe Store

Rapid Advance in Prices
Causes Much Hesitation

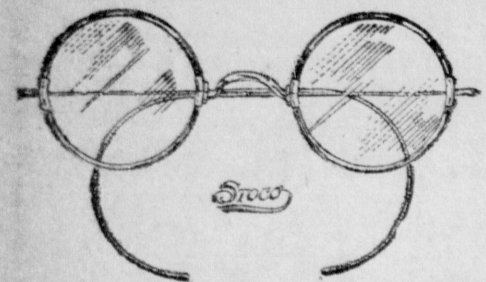

Public to be Benefitted
In Spite of Advances.

The prices of shoes have advanced so rapidly that the Shoe Merchants can hardly afford to sell their stock at the prices that they now have it marked. Shoe Clearance Sales are almost passed out. It has been predicted that shoes will even double in prices which will make the best grades sell for as much as thirty dollars a pair. So many people think that the Retailer is greatly benefitted by the high prices of shoes. This is not so, the investment is much larger, it takes just double the capital to do business and then when the market goes the other way the Retailer must take the loss. Altho the time is not in sight when the market is to drop, but it will come eventually, but possibly not for six to eight years. For this Fall and next Spring shoes are still advancing. Mr. Moser has placed orders enough to take care of his business and with his present large stock it will be possible for him to take care of his trade and sell shoes at very reasonable prices. Moser's Shoe Store has the reputation of offering the Public Wonderful Shoe Values at very low prices, these sales are held twice a year, one in the early Fall and one towards the close of the Winter season. Here is what has caused the great calamity at Moser's Shoe Store, it's nearly time for the Semi-Annual Shoe Clearance Sale and Mr. Moser has been advised not to have a Shoe Sale this season, but he does not want to disappoint his customers, it has always been customary to have a shoe sale so why give it up this season just when the people will appreciate it most. The Shoe Salesmen say, "Don't Do It," and probably they are right. Mr. Moser has decided to have a Shoe Clearance Sale of his entire stock of high grade Footwear, the prices will be marked down instead of up, the public will have an opportunity to buy shoes at very low prices for nine days, July seventeenth to twenty-six, inclusive. This great Shoe Clearance will start Thursday, July seventeenth at nine a. m. A full page of Shoe Bargains will appear in this paper tomorrow night, be sure and read them over, you will surely attend this Shoe Sale. (Advertisement.)

MUCH MINOR DAMAGE IS DONE BY STORM

Much minor damage in this vicinity was caused by three electrical and wind storms which passed over Xenia and other parts of Greene county late Saturday night, and early Sunday morning.

WE FIT SPECTACLES
So you See Well and Look Well.
TIFFANY'S

The first storm broke out about 10:30 and it was accompanied by hail. Shortly after 3 o'clock and again about 6 o'clock Sunday morning, similar storms broke. Rain fell in torrents and there was a very high wind and a constant and terrifying display of electricity.

Local insurance men had not received any reports Monday forenoon of damage from the wind and lightning, but both the Central Union and Citizens' Telephone Companies had considerable minor trouble caused by lightning burning out lines and wires being blown down.

Trees were blown down, and branches of trees covered the streets Sunday morning.

A large half oval window over the main entrance to the court house was blown out sash and all and was deposited on the cemented section above the sheriff's office. Only one small pane of glass was broken.

The rush of wind when this window blew out slammed shut and shattered

another oval window at the north end of the corridor on the second floor of the building.

Crops in the fields were not damaged as much as it was feared they would be by the storm.

Confederate Memorial Day.

April 26 is celebrated in Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi as Confederate Memorial day, a day that corresponds to May 30 in the North. The day was established by a woman from Georgia, Mary Ann Williams, who, in a letter printed in the Columbus Times in 1866, called upon her fellow citizens to observe the following April 26 as a day "to wreath the graves of our martyr-dead with flowers."

MISS WEAVER AND HER FIANCE GUESTS OF HONOR AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Dilver Belden gave a lovely dinner, followed by cards Saturday evening complimenting Miss Anne Weaver and her fiance, Mr. Schuyler N. McClellan. The Belden home on North Galloway street, is one of the most attractive in the city, and the soft decorative tones in the rooms blended with the rose and white which the hostess chose for the dinner colors.

Centering the table was a white wicker basket filled with long stemmed pink roses, and at each cover were pink baskets of bonbons. The place cards were decorated in pink. Dinner was in four courses, and there were covers for twelve.

Tables were in the living room for cards, and in this room rose and white snapdragons were used. The prizes went to Mrs. F. W. Chew and Mr. McClellan while the guest prize a hand painted plate was presented to Miss Weaver by the hostess.

MRS. MYRTLE JENKINS DIES OF TUBERCULOSIS

Mrs. Myrtle Jenkins, widow of Augustus Jenkins, died at the District Tuberculosis Hospital at Springfield at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. She suffered an attack of influenza last October from which she never recovered, resulting in tuberculosis. She had been in the hospital since last January.

Mrs. Jenkins was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ford and was born in Cedarville, March 28, 1880, being 39 years of age. She is survived by three children, Omer, of Brookville, Lawrence and Louise, of Greenville. She also leaves a sister and brother, Mrs. A. H. Reed, of Greenville and Harvey Ford, of Dayton.

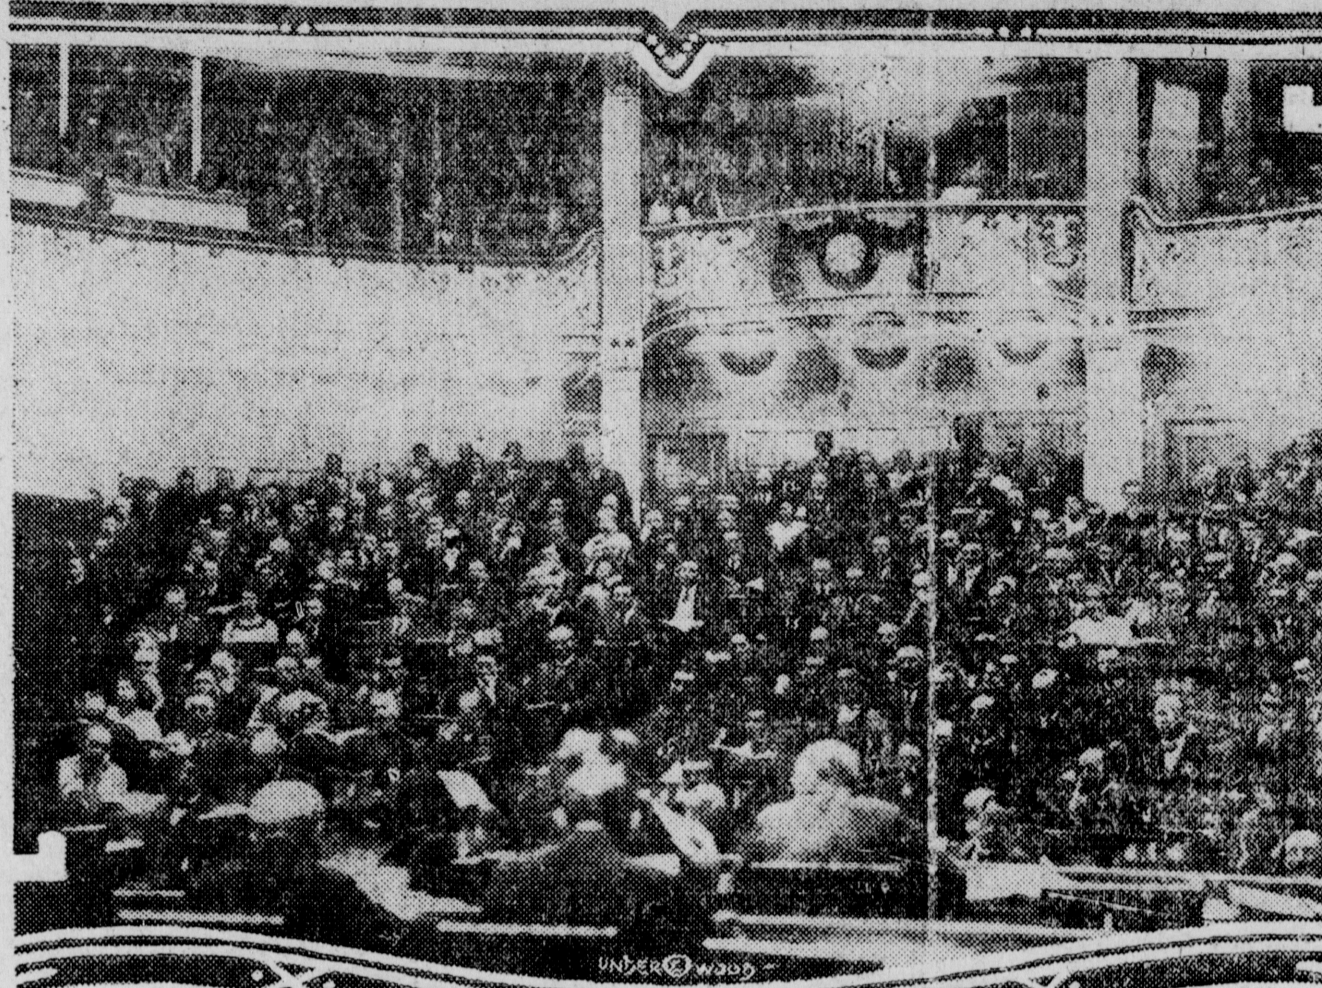

The body was taken by Nagley Bros., to the home of a cousin, Mrs. Bert McFarland, in Cedarville, where funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial will be made in the North Cemetery Cedarville.

WHERE GERMAN ASSEMBLY RATIFIED PEACE TREATY

German national assembly in session at Weimar.

This picture, which has just reached the U. S., shows a recent session of the German national assembly which ratified the peace treaty signed by Mueller and Bauer. The resolution ratifying the treaty was adopted by the assembly at Weimar by a vote of 208 to 115. The picture shows several women sitting as members of the body. They have taken a prominent part in the new government.

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE MAKES SAFE JOURNEY

Pulham, Eng., July 4.—A force of 300 workmen were today engaged in overhauling the British dirigible R-34 in preparation for her flight to her base at East Fortune, Scotland, the starting point of her trans-Atlantic voyage. She is expected to take the air within two or three days and make the trip to East Fortune in about seven hours.

The R-34 landed here after her history-making flight across the Atlantic and back, in excellent condition. One of her engines must be replaced but this will be done after she arrives at East Fortune.

Pulham, Norfolk, England, July 14.—Great Britain's mammoth trans-Atlantic air pioneer, the dirigible R-34 arrived at the air station here at 6:50 from a height of 5,000 feet to 2,000 feet. The men who were to aid the airship in landing were ordered to their positions and waited silently as the ship circled the field, dropping lower and lower.

When Major G. H. Scott her commander, had maneuvered the airship into position for the landing, the water ballast was released to steady her and a rope was thrown from her bow. The rope was grasped by eager hands and the giant ship moved across the field to the shed where the delicate operation of berthing her was completed quickly and without accident.
